GERMANS SAY RUSSIAN LINE BROKEN

UNITED STATES EUROPEAN AIR CHIEF NAMED

Mansfield Man Among Those Who Participated in First American Raids.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 7—Major Gen. Carl Spaatz of Boyerstown, Pa., has been named commander in chief of the United States air forces in the European theater, it was announced today.

General Spaatz awarded distinguished service crosses to three members of the crew of a plane piloted by Capt. Charles C. Kegelman July 4 in the first American raid on German-held territory in western Europe.

They were Second Lieut. Randall M. Dorton Jr., of Long Beach, Calif.; Sergeant Robert L. Golay of Fredonia, Kas., and Sergeant Bennie B Cunningham of Tupelo, Miss.

Captain Kegelman, of El Reno, Okla., was awarded the DSC immediately following the raid on the Netherlands, having brought his badly-damaged plane home on one engine after striking the ground when hit by German gunfire.

General Spaatz, who has been assistant to the chief of the air corps, announced that members of the two American-operated planes missing from the July 4 raid were:

Second Lieut. Frederick Loehrl of Seattle.

Second Lieut. Marshall Draper of Beverly Hills, Calif..

Sergeant Robert Whitman of Centralia, Wash., members of one crew;

Second Lieut. William C. Lynn of Los Angeles.

Second Lieut. Boyd Grand of Louisiana (hometown not given),

Sergeant William Murphy of Baltimore, Md., and Sergeant Charles Kramarewicz of Norwich, Conn., members of the other crew.

The first plane was shot down by anti-aircraft fire and was seen to crash, said the headquarters announcement, while the second "probably met the same fate, although when last seen by members of the raid it was flying over the target."

Members of the three other American air crews returning safely besides that of Capt. Kegelman's plane, were:

Capt. William Odell of Mansfield, Ohio; Lieutenant Leslie Birleson of Muskegon, Mich., and Earl Thompson of Canaan, N. H.;

Lieutenants Leo Hawel of Seattle, Wash., and Frank Donally of Jersey City, N. J.; Sergeants Earl McGinnis of Foss, Okla., and Thomas Andrews of Newport, R. I. and,

AXIS PUSHES EAST, AND SOON ALLIES MAY GO IN SAME DIRECTION

In the Russian Ukraine toward the Caucasus and Middle East and along the arid North African shore toward the same objective (black arrows), Axis armies this spring and summer have pushed forward toward a juncture which, when once made, might win the war or immeasurably extend it. But to the west, growing United Nations strength concentrated in the British Isles threatened another drive to the east (outlined arrows) against the Axis in a second front that might make militarily fatal the huge Hitler-created war front in Russia and Africa. Lined areas are Axis-held or controlled. (Associated Press Map).

CHINA PLEADS FOR FRONT IN PACIFIC

Leaders Urge More Weight To Knock Out Japan.

(More about China's war anniversary on Editorial Page)

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 7—Battered China entered the sixth year of its struggle against the Japanese invaders today with a renewed plea that the Pacific rather than Europe be made the United Nations' "second front."

Speaking for the Chungking government, Major General Chu Shih-Ming, military attache, declared the United States and China could knock out the Japanese this year if full American power were concentrated in the Pacific.

"A force of 500 warplanes would enable China to launch an offensive," he said. "The facilities, including gasoline, are still available. Despite Japanese advances, bases remain from which Japan can be bombed.

"If the Japanese are allowed time to consolidate their gains, it may take a very long time to defeat them, and meanwhile the United Nations would never be able to throw their full strength into a European second front.

"Russia is sure to stay in the fight whether a second front is set up but there is always the danger that China will be knocked out.

"There is little prospect of defeating Hitler this year, but crushing the Japanese would be a long step toward beating the Nazis. It is sound strategy to hit the weaker foe first. Also, if Japan is disposed of, the problem of supplying Russia would be solved."

Reviewing China's five years of war at an embassy press conference, General Chu soberly told questioners that "very few" planes were being flown into his beleaguered country and that American financial aid was of little direct help to the war effort.

CHUNGKING, July 7—The Japanese have suffered casualties of 1,000,000 dead and 1,500,000 wounded in five years of war in China, an army spokesman said today.

REPORT RUSSIAN LOSSES

By The Associated Press

BERLIN (from German broadcasts) July 7—A special report by the German high command today said that Crimean operations from Sept. 21, 1941 to the fall of Sevastopol cost the Russians 430,000 prisoners, 1,193 tanks and 2,102 guns.

PAID OHIO WAR BOND STAFF KEPT DOWN

Any Additions To Be Made from Civil Service.

CLEVELAND, O., July 7—"No large-scale increase in the paid personnel of the Ohio War Bond Staff is planned now or in the future," Roy D. Moore, state administrator of the staff, said today. "If any additions at all are made, appointments will be made from the civil service lists."

This statement was made in connection with a recent Washington report of a house appropriations subcommittee hearing that the treasury department personnel engaged in the sale of War Savings Bonds in Ohio would be increased from the 17 employes now on the payroll to 77 in 1943.

"We are proud of the outstanding job in the sale of War Bonds and Stamps being accomplished in Ohio with one of the smallest staffs of paid workers of any of the larger states in the country," Moore said.

"Major credit for these gratifying results, however, goes to the 2,500 to 3,000 volunteer workers throughout the state, who are working every day without pay, giving generously of their time and effort in support of the sale of War Bonds and Stamps in Ohio. We are counting on their continued cooperation, rather than an enlarged paid staff, to meet the state's monthly $35,151,000 War Savings sales quota," Moore concluded.

Ban on Married Women Teachers Lifted Here for Duration of War

Authority Granted Superintendent To Meet Possible Emergency; Transfer of Rural Area To City District Asked.

Freedom to employ married women teachers in the Marion public schools for the duration of the war was given Supt. E. E. Holt by the board of education in regular session yesterday afternoon at the administration building.

The action, in a resolution unanimously adopted following a 20-minute "star session" in which a reporter was absent from the meeting, opens the way for a superintendent to hire married women teachers in the public schools for the first time in some 15 years.

The board took under advisement two requests to transfer territory from the Marion county to the Marion city school district; set Sept. 14 as the date of opening the 1942-43 school year; approved a cooperative salesmanship course in Harding High school; employed custodians for the year at salary adjustments totaling about $1,500 a year; employed one teacher and accepted one resignation; approved four persons for the national defense training classes and discussed leaves of absence.

Action authorizing the superintendent to employ married women teachers was not taken to meet a crisis, the board explained to the reporter after the "star" session, but merely gave him greater freedom if an emergency should arise.

13 Vacancies

Superintendent Holt said he had 13 vacancies to fill, but that he had a "stack" of applications and that at present there was no dearth of personnel for the coming school year. However, he said, the war situation may become such that it will be necessary to employ married women and in that event he appreciated the action taken by the board.

The resolution as presented by Dr. R. T. Morgan and seconded by Dr. F. L. Thomas, follows:

"For the duration of the war we will change the rule with regard to hiring married women as teachers and for that period married women will be employed, at the discretion of the superintendent."

Board Member Frank C. Robinson was the only member absent from yesterday's session.

School Opening Date

Monday, Sept. 14, was set as the opening date of the 1942-43 school year. The remainder of the school calendar was not set, the members agreeing that under war conditions a flexible calendar would be wisest.

The superintendent told the board that there are many teachers and many pupils now employed in war work and other capacities who could contribute considerably to the war effort if they had a longer period of employment. Limiting of the Christmas holiday to make possible an earlier summer vacation date was discussed but the matter was left to the progress of the war.

Area Transfers Asked

County Supt. D. T. Mills sent the board two requests for transfers of county school territory to the city district, one involving the northeast section of Marion township, which has been affected by the Scioto Ordnance Plant, and the other a triangular section of land south of Marion, between the Prospect road and the railroad and Berks road on the south.

The board decided to table the requests until the members can determine the mileage involved, since the city schools do not afford bus transportation for pupils.

Approval of a cooperative salesmanship course for Harding High school pupils during the 1942-43 school year followed an investigation by the superintendent of a request made by the retail board of managers of the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

Superintendent Holt advised the board that in his inquiry into the type of training he learned that through the George-Dean Act federal funds will be allowed to pay five-eighths of the time devoted [illegible]

16 ARRESTED IN POLICE RAID ON KENTUCKY CLUB

Operator and Two Employes Fined; Gambling Equipment Confiscated.

Sixteen men, including 13 Marion residents, were arrested yesterday when city police staged a raid on the Kentucky club at 138½ South Main street at 3:15 p. m.

Those arrested included:

Charles England, 44, of 194 East Walnut street, named by police as proprietor; charged with operating a gambling house.

John Midlam, 25, of near Marion, an employe.

Sam Cunningham, 42, of 340 Mt. Vernon avenue, an employe.

M. R. Ferrin, 62, of 253 Edwards street, a patron.

Edward Kidd, 29, of 600 Lee street, a patron.

Harry Johnson, 46, of Miami Beach, Fla., a patron.

John Smith, 57, of Columbus, a patron.

Edward Kolin 46, of Columbus, a patron.

H. L. Bratton, 39, of 327 South Main street, a patron.

Wayne Mitchell, 44, of near Marion, a patron.

Fred Shadix, 41, of 243 West Center street, a patron.

William Lewis, 57, of 150 Sharpless court, a patron.

John Williams, 73, of 237 Madison avenue, a patron.

J. A. Martin, 70, of 715 East Fairground street, a patron.

C. Steele, 51, of 816 Congress street, a patron.

J. A. Miko, 43, of 413 Mary street, a patron.

Operator Fined

England was charged with operating a gambling house and was fined $500 and costs when arraigned before Municipal Judge W. Dexter Hazen. Judge Hazen later suspended $200 of the fine.

On April 6, 1940 police staged a raid on the Kentucky club. England, proprietor at that time also, was fined $500 and costs. Judge Hazen suspended $200 of that fine also, municipal court records show.

Midlam and England were charged with disorderly conduct and pleas of guilty for both were entered by England. Judge Hazen fined both employes $25 and costs, amounting to $31.20 each.

England posted $16.20 bond for each of the patrons in the club at the time. All were charged with disorderly conduct. When they failed to appear in municipal court today, Judge Hazen ordered the bonds forfeited.

Arrangements for taking care of bonds and fines for all 16 men were completed shortly after the raid by Judge Hazen, England and City Solicitor Russell M. Wilhelm. England wrote a check for $579.20, total of all fines and bonds.

Timed To Fit Races

The raid was timed perfectly to fit in with racing activities at the major tracks throughout the country. The club was known to be selling tickets on horses entered in races at Thistle Downs, Detroit, Arlington Park, Suffolk Downs and Empire City.

Capt. Ora DeWees and Patrolmen McClenathan, Romine, Messenger and Osmun left police station in one auto shortly after 3 p. m. All were dressed in plain clothes. At 3:15 Capt. DeWees entered the club rooms without any trouble.

Rent Ceiling Troubles Plague Marion Families

Situation Rapidly Getting Out of Hand, Officials Say As OPA Fails To Send Administrator.

Marion's housing and rental problem, which has been generating steam for several weeks, is about to blow the lid off of a strained situation which appears to be driving landlords, renters and rent officials to the breaking point.

The heart of the trouble seems to center around the federal Office of Price Administration, which definitely warned the public that rentals in Marion were frozen as of March 1, and that if landlords and renters didn't abide by the price ceiling within 60 days, federal administrators would be appointed to enforce the regulations with a firm hand.

The 60-day period expired on June 28 and nothing happened, despite the fact the Marion fair rent committee had publicly announced that landlords were openly violating the ceiling order.

The fair rent committee has been waiting since for the OPA to send in an administrator, but there hasn't been any indication so far that one is to be named.

Mayor's Letter Unanswered.

Mayor R. C. Snare said he wrote a letter six weeks ago to the Cleveland office of the OPA, serving this district, notifying the office that violations were being made openly in some instances in Marion, calling attention to the fact that the fair rent committee had no authority whatsoever to issue orders or punish offenders and suggesting that a rent administrator be named. He said today that he had not even received an acknowledgement of his letter.

Meanwhile, the problem continues to boil, chiefly at the office of the Marion municipal court, where a steady stream of landlords and renters pour in stories of alleged abuses.

Court Staves Off Action.

Judge W. Dexter Hazen and his assistants have headed off dozens of eviction suits by explaining to complainants that the court has no authority to enforce the OPA regulations but must continue to function under Ohio law. The trouble is that the Ohio law, not anticipating problems like Marion's, doesn't provide much leniency for renters. If a landlord wants them to move, the landlord can file a three-day notice, ordering the renters to get out. If they don't, eviction proceedings can be started, and unless the renters can show some good reason why the eviction shouldn't be ordered, the renters get a 10-day notice from the court to get out. If they don't, the court bailiff is compelled by law to set the family and its possessions out in the street. There are possibly 8 or 10 such cases in process right now, but as a result of patient compromising and peace-making, court officials so far have avoided the extreme step of having to forcibly set a family out in the street.

Other dozens of landlords have been "all set" to file eviction proceedings, but have held off their actions at the suggestion of court officials, who have confidently expected the federal government would send in an administrator to take charge of rent troubles.

"The trouble is," Judge Hazen pointed out, "we can't continue this way indefinitely. If the OPA doesn't take charge, people will insist on proceeding under the existing law, and whether we like it or not it may come to the place where we can't avoid evictions. I hope something is done before such drastic measures become necessary."

3 Calls in 20 Minutes.

A reporter's 20-minute conversation with Judge Hazen was interrupted three times—by telephone calls about rent problems. "It goes on like this all the time," Judge Hazen declared. "Every few minutes we hear about a new complaint but there isn't anything we can do about most of them."

Aside from its effort to make peace between landlords and renters, the court has taken the stand that in rent cases it will delay decisions until the city's fair rent committee has investigated the situation and has made a recommendation, provided one of the parties to the proceedings wants

INDUCTION OF CO. H TONIGHT

Public Ceremony To Begin in Harding Stadium at 7:30 P. M.

Residents of Marion and surrounding communities are invited to the Harding stadium tonight at 7:30 for the mass induction of Co. H of Marion in the Ohio State Guard.

The occasion, a colorful ceremony including music by the Fort Hayes post band from Columbus, will be one of the few instances in Ohio when a full company is mustered into service at one time, according to guard officials.

War stamps will be sold and bond pledges will be taken by young women under the direction of Miss Maud Gorham, chairman of the women's division of the county war stamp and bond committee and in charge of R. N. Heininger of the committee.

Recruiting Stands

Recruiting stands will be set up on the stadium grounds for men and women who desire to join the Marion Rifles and the Women's Ambulance corps.

The reviewing stand, occupied by Adjutant General Donald F. Pancoast and his staff, executives of the Scioto Ordnance Plant, city and county officials and past commanding officers of Marion's

"Victory Corsage" Drive Set To Aid War Stamp Sales

Wear a "Victory Corsage" Friday and Saturday and be in Marion's best-dressed group.

On those two days this weekend the "Retailers for Victory" campaign will offer corsages for women and boutonnieres for men in all of the downtown stores.

The "Victory corsage and boutonniere" also follows last week's "Whiteout for Victory" opening the retailers' drive to sell $10,000 worth of stamps and bonds during July as a part of a national retailers' campaign to raise a billion dollars during the month.

For Men and Women

For women there will be $1 corsages, of nine 10-cent war stamps, and for men there will be 60 cent boutonnieres of two 25-cent war stamps. Both men and women will be offered large boutonnieres of nine 25 cent stamps, selling at $2.40.

"There's no profit in this drive for anyone except the purchaser, who will draw interest on our 'Victory' corsages and boutonnieres when the stamps are turned into war savings bonds," Jerry Passon, chairman of the "Retailers for Victory" campaign said today.

The slight cost beyond the purchase price of the stamps will only cover the cost of cellophane, crepe paper and red, white and blue ribbons used in making up the unusual corsages and boutonnieres.

Girl Scouts Help

Girl Scouts are busy making up the "Victory" arrangements and expect to have at least 750 ready for the opening of the drive on Friday. They are working under the direction of Miss Edith Treat, Girl Scout executive director.

Young women of the city, directed by Miss Maud Gorham who is chairman of the women's division of the county war stamp and bond staff, will be the salesmen.

Two Marion Residents Reunited With Sister Believed Dead for 30 Years

James M. Davis and Mrs. Millie Dains Get Surprise Visit from Sister After Records Lead to Reunion.

Reunion with a sister they had believed dead for 30 years was the unusual experience Friday of James M. Davis of 237 Reed avenue and Mrs. Millie Dains of 412 North Grand avenue. The finding of her family whose existence she learned of only a short time ago was the equally unusual experience of Miss Mildred Ella Gibson of Akron.

The three are the only living members of a family of five children born to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davis. The parents are deceased.

NAZIS DECLARE BIG RED ARMY FORCES SPLIT

Say Important Railway Cut; Rommel Still Halted in Egypt.

By The Associated Press

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies, exploiting a swift 120-mile break through, appeared to have cut direct communications between Russia's northern and southern armies in a grave turn of events in the Soviet campaign today, while in Egypt the British reported they had bent the axis southern flank back to the west for a third successive setback.

A bulletin from British imperial headquarters said Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck's 8th army, bolstered by fresh troops and big American tanks, "continued their pressure on the enemy who entered his southern flank in the west."

This evidently meant that Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel had been forced to weaken his forward line within 70 miles of the Great Alexandria naval base, and build a protecting or "extended" wall against British flying columns hacking at flanks.

"Our battle groups engaged and dispersed several small enemy columns," British headquarters said, while front-line dispatches indicated that Gen. Rommel's weary troops were refusing battle.

Claim Red Railroad Cut

A German communique asserted tersely that "in the fight for El Alamein, several enemy counter-attacks supported by tanks failed."

On the Soviet front, Hitler's field headquarters reported tank-led Nazi troops had captured the important city of Voronezh, on the Moscow-Rostov railroad, which is the principal rail communication between the Red armies of the north and south.

Simultaneously, the Nazi-controlled Paris radio asserted that "the Germans are advancing from Voronezh in the direction of Povorino," 140 miles east of Voronezh.

Voronezh, a city of 212,000 population, lies 10 miles east of the Don river, about half way between Moscow and Rostov.

The Paris radio said the Moscow-Rostov railway, the last major rail connection between Moscow and the Caucasus, had been cut. The line runs through Voronezh.

While the Russians gave no indication that Voronezh had fallen, Red army headquarters indicated that Gen. Heinz Guderian's Nazi tank columns, sweeping 50 miles beyond the line of their greatest 1941 advance, had fought their way across the upper Don.

Report Heavy Toll

Soviet dispatches said the Red armies were falling back in good order, inflicting a bloody toll on the invaders, with half a dozen battles costing the Germans 3,550 in dead alone.

"During July 6, our troops waged fierce battles west of Voronezh and southwest of Stari Oskol," the Russian command said. "Our troops evacuated a number of populated places."

Voronezh is 130 miles east of Kursk, the starting-point of the new German offensive. Stari Oskol lies 65 miles southwest of Voronezh.

Soviet dispatches said fresh German divisions were moving into the battle and that almost 20,000 Nazi troops were now throwing their weight into the drive, which ultimately could turn either south for a thrust into the great Caucasus oil fields or north for a flanking sweep around Moscow.

Although military experts expected Hitler to strike for the oil treasures of the Caucasus, they did not discount the possibility that he might also be intent on the prize that so bitterly eluded him in 1941—the capture of Moscow.

German communiques recently have stressed action in the Rzhev zone, 120 miles northwest of Moscow.

RED CROSS WORKERS HOLDING INSTITUTE

Marion County Group Attending Session in Columbus.

Volunteer workers in every Ohio community of 25,000 or more population should get as much training experience as possible turning out surgical dressings for America's armed forces. The American Red Cross war time institute in Columbus, which Marion county chapters are attending, was told today.

Nat C. Wilson of Washington, assistant manager of the four-day institute, estimated that the nation's 10 million volunteer Red Cross workers must be increased to possibly 18 million to meet wartime needs, according to an Associated Press report on the institute.

Miss Lillian Plack, executive secretary of the Marion county chapter is attending all sessions, held in the Neil house.

Mrs J. T. McNamara, Mrs. Jane Alexander, Miss Alice Caulfield and Miss Esther Guthery attended yesterday's sessions on volunteer special services and at today's sessions on nursing services, Junior Red Cross and home service were Mrs Everett Griggsby, Mrs J. H. Harmon and Miss Mary Temple.

Wednesday will be devoted to war fund and roll call, disaster preparedness, first aid, water safety and accident prevention. Those who have said they will attend are Ralph E. Carhart, chapter chairman, Homer D Cole, Harold Hall, J. W. Torrance and Miss Temple.

Mr Kenan, a direct descendant of Major Asa Danforth of the Revolutionary War, came to Marion in 1909 and from 1910 to 1916 was in the accounting department of the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

In 1916 he entered the employ of the Marion Water Co. as manager and auditor and in 1929 he was made chief accountant, the position he held when he retired on June 30, 1937. He was associated with the late George Whysall, president of the company for 21 years.

For three years he was associated with the Cavouette Products Co of Marion and at the time of his death he was with the Ohio National Life Insurance Co.

Before coming to Marion, Mr Kenan was paymaster and accountant for the E. & H. France Co., large stone contracting concern.

He was born in Wyandot county on Jan 21, 1868 to Alvin and Olive T. Torrey Kenan, both natives of the county.

He was a member of First Presbyterian church and of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs Bertha Alice Good Kenan, the daughter, two grandchildren, Thomas Kenan Coulter and Susan Elizabeth Coulter and one sister Mrs W. M. Smalley of Dayton.

The Americans left their tanks at Tobruk and got out of that embattled port just before the Germans went in. Cairo advices said they were to have returned to America to apply lessons learned in the desert but because of the German advance they were ordered to stay and join in the fight to save Egypt.

The American tank crews went to Africa under command of Major Henry Cabot Lodge (Senator Lodge of Massachusetts), who returned to Washington yesterday. During the desert tour of duty Lodge underwent machine-gun fire and dive bombing and narrowly escaped being taken prisoner.

Edward Kennedy, Associated Press war correspondent with Allied troops, said the American unit saw little fighting on the first day. The following day it was part of a British formation charged with holding a desert ridge between Knightsbridge and Acroma to protect the withdrawal of South African infantry from the Gazala area.

About 75 German tanks attacked shortly after dawn. The battle raged all day. The ridge was held.

SENATE ACTS TO AID AGRICULTURE DEPT.

Seeks To Release Funds Delayed by Controversy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 7—With the agriculture department "practically immobilized," the senate took the initiative away from the house today in a new attempt to settle a controversy that has left the department technically without funds since July 1.

The senate sent to house legislation sidestepping the main points of the argument but designed to tide the department over this month with the same amount it had for June.

The house farm block was split over that procedure, primarily because appropriations for the new fiscal year would be 40 per cent lower.

Apparently out for the duration of the stalemate were such controversial items as President Roosevelt's recommendation that the commodity credit corporation be permitted to dispose of its wheat and corn at below parity prices.

Chairman Tarver (D-Ga) of the house appropriations subcommittee said speed was essential because the department was "practically immobilized" and could not even issue semi-annual checks tomorrow for its thousands of employees.

Meanwhile the senate continued debate on a bill which would raise the present 85 per cent parity loans on basic crops to 100 per cent.

Weight of Nazi Offensive Seen as Warning to Allies

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The weight and fierceness of Hitler's mammoth offensive against the Russians in the Kursk-Kharkov sector give us blunt warning of the dangers which the Allies must surmount during the next few months.

It is, of course, a matter of grave concern that the Nazis have [illegible] their way [illegible] eastward to the Don river, thus threatening the gateway to the Caucasus. But the great anxiety should cause neither surprise nor despair.

Hitler is hurling one million men against the Bolshevist positions in the valley of the upper Don. He is making a wholesale sacrifice of life in an effort to wash out his past failures.

Now when you get that much pressure [illegible] you [illegible] any pattern, something has to break. We must expect Russian reverses during the further fighting which is ahead of us. This shouldn't shake our belief that the Allies will keep Hitler out of the Caucasus.

The Hitlerian strategy is plain. His offensive is calculated (1) to sever Russia's communications with the Caucasus, thereby cutting the Reds off from vital oil and food supplies and (2) to bring a great army across the entrance to the Caucasian isthmus, ready for an assault southward to the oil fields and the Middle East.

Berlin already claims the capture of the city of Voronezh. If this is true it would sever the last main line between Moscow and Rostov—a hard blow to the Russians. The Nazi chief also must envisage the capture of the big industrial city of Stalingrad and Astrakhan, which lies on the Caspian sea.

Should fortune favor him to that extent he then would be holding a line across the top of the isthmus running between the Black and Caspian seas. But there his troubles would be only well under way, for in order to drive down through this isthmus he must force the lofty Caucasus mountain range, which is one of the most formidable military barriers in the world.

Another aspect of this situation is that the northern Caucasus for which Hitler is headed represents one of Russia's principal food sources.

Loss of this vast food center would create a grave problem for the Soviet.

While Hitler might deprive the Russians of food, he is likely to gain little for his own cupboard. The fruitful Ukraine, which now should be green with waving grain, is dead and black from the Russian scorched-earth policy.

RITES SET FOR MARION NATIVE DEAD IN CRASH

Services in Delaware Thursday for Mrs. Clara Newton.

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Newton, 53, wife of Carl Newton of Lakewood, who was killed instantly in an automobile accident near Bowling Green, Ky., Sunday morning, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Robinson-Brackney funeral home at Delaware. Burial will be made in the Delaware cemetery. The body is at the funeral home.

Mrs. Newton was born in Marion to Chris and Minnie Bohler. She is survived by her husband, who also was injured in the accident and is in a hospital at Bowling Green, a son, Lieut. Jack Newton who is with the U. S. air corps at Albuquerque, N. M., a sister, Mrs. Rose Isaleb of Mt. Vernon avenue, and a brother, George C. Bohler of East Church street.

The accident occurred when Mr. and Mrs. Newton and the former's sister, Mrs. Florence C. McHugh of Cleveland, were returning from Albuquerque where they had visited Lieut. Newton. According to the report of a highway officer who investigated the accident, the car collided with one driven by Sam Turner, 41, of Memphis, Tenn. who was returning to that city from Dayton. Turner was reported held by authorities following the accident.

Mrs. McHugh suffered fractures of both legs and Mr. Newton who was driving received head injuries. Both are in the hospital at Bowling Green. Turner also was injured and removed to a hospital.

Lieut. Newton flew to Bowling Green and Mr. Bohler left immediately for that city when notified of the accident.

KENTON, O., July 7—A truck accident Sunday night near Upper Sandusky claimed its second life today with the death of Marshall Adams of Dola, at 11:10 a. m. in McKitrick hospital.

Mr. Adams, who was about 35, died a few hours before the funeral of the first victim, Pearl Timmons Jr. They were thrown from the cab of a truck when it skidded on Lincoln highway. Timmons died instantly and Mr. Adams suffered critical internal injuries.

The body of Mr. Adams was taken to the Shields funeral home at Forest.

The funeral for Timmons was conducted here this afternoon.

GILLETTE PROPOSES NEW RUBBER PLAN

Urges Cancellation of Contracts for Petroleum Rubber

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 7—Contending months could be saved, Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) proposed today the government cancel some of its contracts for plants to produce synthetic rubber from petroleum and build new facilities for production from grain.

Gillette made this suggestion after hearing testimony by Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board that the need for copper and other vital materials precluded the construction of new grain alcohol plants at this time.

Gillette told reporters if this condition existed, there was all the more reason why the government should shift its emphasis away from the petroleum process to what he said was the more simplified procedure of producing synthetic rubber-yield butadiene from grain alcohol.

"These grain alcohol plants can be built with one-tenth of the critical materials and in from one-third to one-fourth of the time it takes to construct a petroleum-process plant," he declared.

Of a potential annual production of 1,000,000 tons of synthetic rubber, approximately 200,000 tons has been allocated by the WPB to the grain alcohol process.

Nelson told a sub-committee he did not believe any new grain alcohol facilities should be erected at this time but was rushing plans to convert whisky distilleries to make the industrial product.

HE WANTS REVENGE

Aviation Cadet James V. Hill of Kelly Field, Texas, has a score to settle with the Japs. Some day he may repay them. For 20 years young Hill, son of Major Robert Hill, lived in Manila, capital of the Philippines. Two years ago he left to see the world. When Manila fell, Hill's mother and sister were captured by the Japs and placed in a concentration camp. His father, fighting with General Douglas MacArthur's forces in the islands, was among the missing on Bataan. Young Hill only awaits the day he will return to Manila—at the controls of a bombing plane.

SCHOOL BOARD

to the distributive education program by a qualified instructor.

State Approval Given

Miss Marguerite Loos, state supervisor of distributive education, has confirmed the approval of the money for the Marion board for the school year, Mr. Holt said. The board authorized him to proceed with setting up the program, providing there are enough pupils interested in the course to justify its installation.

Mr. Holt said he would notify next year's seniors, who were told this spring that such a course might be offered, asking them to come to a meeting with Principal O. H. P. Snyder of the high school, Miss Loos and the retail group of the Chamber of Commerce, to work out plans.

The course would give pupils actual experience in Marion retail stores, with the instructor spending 15 hours a week in the stores with the pupils.

Mr. Holt said he had no recommendations for the instructorship to present to the board.

Comment on Leaves

"I recently have received requests for leaves of absence, especially for work in relation to the government but outside of the armed forces. In order that we might have information to guide us in deciding these questions, I communicated with the state department of education in regard to the power of the board to grant leaves. The following statement has been made by O. E. Hill, assistant director of education:

"'It is possible under the law for a board of education to grant a two-year leave of absence to a teacher for additional preparation or educational work. This leave of absence can be renewed if the board would so desire at the end of the first two years.'"

Mr. Holt said that in a personal telephone communication with Karl Berns of Columbus, assistant secretary of field service for the Ohio Education association, Mr. Berns said in opinion the question of leaves "hinges on whether the teacher was inducted into service."

The Marion board has followed a policy of granting leaves to men inducted. At a special meeting last week the board decided that during the summer months deferments would not be sought for men called to service.

Total Salary Increases

In employing the custodians for the school year, the board followed the policy set up in 1941 of granting adjustments in accordance with a working salary schedule. The adjustments made the custodians total approximately $1,560 and with the adjustments made teachers, principals, special teachers, and the superintendent of buildings and grounds at last week's meeting, makes a total of approximately $14,060 for the 1942-43 school year.

Teacher Employed

Miss Evelyn Marks of 850 Woodrow avenue, who this spring was granted a three-year diploma from Ohio university at Athens, was employed. The resignation of Miss Louise Gracely a teacher at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school, was accepted. Miss Gracely is now filling a civil service position with the navy department in Washington.

Alden Willis, welder, Ralph Miley and Dan Cockerell, crib boys, and Joe Cramer, janitor, were employed for the national defense training classes which got underway yesterday. A salary increase was voted Miss Marybelle Eberhart, secretary to I. H. Rieker, vocational coordinator.

Bills totaling $11,439.69 were approved. The bills included $616 for typewriters bought in January and delivered in February, $3,182.08 for coal and $4,004.30 for a milling machine in the vocational shop. The board will be reimbursed for the milling machine expenditure with federal funds granted the city schools last year.

The board granted the county health department use of one room at the North Main Street school for teaching a Red Cross home nursing class to residents of trailers in the vicinity of the school.

Coffee, bananas and cocoa constitute about 90 per cent of Costa Rica's agricultural exports, shipments of all three increasing last year over those of 1940.

CRESTLINE MAYOR STRICKEN SUDDENLY

Dies at Home After Return from Council Meeting.

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, July 7—Mayor Starling Trimble, 49, of Crestline, died suddenly at 3:30 a. m. today in his home on West Bucyrus street. Death followed a heart attack suffered after he had returned home from attending a meeting of the council and of a committee planning a defense day demonstration for Thursday. All plans for this demonstration have been canceled.

Mr. Trimble was born May 6, 1893, to Dr. Charles E. and Cora Condon Trimble. On July 28, 1925, he was married to Miss Joanna Mincks, who survives. Also surviving are a daughter, Mary Anne, and a son, John at home, and a sister, Mrs. William Miller of Crestline.

Mr. Trimble was throughout his life an insurance agent and served as postmaster of Crestline from 1923 to 1935. Last November he was elected mayor on the Republican ticket and succeeded A. P. Sonner.

He was a member of the Methodist church, McWhirter Post No. 483, American Legion, the Eagles and Masonic bodies, including the Shrine.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the Garverick funeral home with Rev. O. F. Hull of the Methodist church officiating. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home until [illegible] time.

WAR

cow, and today Hitler's field headquarters reported:

"In attacks in the Rzhev area, the enemy was thrown from his positions on a broad front."

This may be the start of a northern pincers movement against Moscow, synchronized with the southern sweep through Voronezh, some 300 miles below the Soviet capital.

German Claims

In claiming the capture of Voronezh, the German high command said that Red army counter-attacks were defeated and that a single Nazi panzer division destroyed 61 Soviet tanks.

Russian dispatches, which may have been behind the latest German reports, declared Red army tanks ranging along the east bank of the Don river were throwing back successive waves of Nazis attempting to cross the stream.

These dispatches indicated that the Germans had failed in initial efforts to penetrate the Russian defenses in depth, but acknowledged that the invaders were swarming across in barges and boats at several points under devastating fire.

The terrific harvest of casualties was reflected in Russian dispatches declaring that six trains totaling 247 cars, jammed with Nazi wounded, had been seen moving to the rear.

British Aim West

While the Russians battled desperately to stem the gravest threat of the year, Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's British imperial armies sought to develop a westward trend in the 14-day-old battle of Egypt.

A steady stream of troops, tanks and guns was reported moving up to the front in the El Alamein sector 65 miles west of Alexandria, and dispatches said it was believed that a token force of American tank soldiers was fighting alongside the British.

Aerial dogfights and heavy artillery battles marked the critical struggle on the Mediterranean coastal mesa yesterday, it was reported, with big guns rumbling constantly through-out the day and night.

Called "Satisfactory"

British military quarters described the situation today as "satisfactory," but they said that Field Marshall Erwin Rommel, twice hurled back in assaults on El Alamein, was probably receiving reinforcements and that the threat to the Suez and the rich delta lands of the Nile was by no means ended.

With both sides exhausted by six weeks of ceaseless fighting across the blazing sands of the western Sahara it appeared that the battle had dwindled for the moment.

Axis prisoners were quoted as saying that Gen. Rommel's soldiers were drugged with weariness, but the British declared it was too early yet to say whether Gen. Auchinleck's army had the strength to try for a knockout.

Italian headquarters reported only "local encounters" yesterday, while London military quarters said Rommel appeared reluctant to join action.

INGERSOLL ACCUSES BOARD OF PREJUDICE

Editor of PM Declares Draft Board Dislikes Paper.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 7—Ralph Ingersoll, editor and publisher of the newspaper PM, accused his draft board in an open letter today of attempting to draft him because of prejudice against PM.

A major portion of the newspaper's front page headlines was devoted to the letter and the three pages containing the text and an explanation by Ingersoll who said in an editorial preface that he was ready to go into army or continue as editor [illegible].

"What I am kicking about is the decision being made by a draft board which has betrayed prejudice in my case—apparently because it doesn't like PM."

Classified 1-A by his local board, Ingersoll appeared for induction June 24 only to find that this had been delayed because of an appeal for deferment by Marshall Field, owner of PM, who said Ingersoll was indispensable to the paper's continuance.

The editor was scheduled to appear before the board tomorrow for a new hearing to determine his status.

Ingersoll prefaced a list of accusations with a demand that his case be "handled by an impartial board."

Ingersoll, who is 41, said he had told the board he had two dependents, one a former wife "awaiting a very serious operation" and the other, an "aged paralytic," and that he had no capital and was, in fact, in debt.

RAID

the "bank" other members of the first raiding party guarded all entrances to the club. Shortly afterwards Chief of Police William E. Marks and Capt. Ernest Mackenzie arrived with Patrolmen Korparger, Shadaker, Norton and Smith to complete the raid.

Customers Released

Names of all persons in the club were taken and shortly afterwards Chief Marks permitted the patrons to leave on their own recognizance. Mrs. D. M. Roberts, 46, of 119 Garden street, an employe of Viggins cafe, located on the first floor of the building in which the club is located, was permitted to return to her work. Chief Marks said she had come up to the club from the cafe to deliver some sandwiches.

Patrolman McClenathan was placed in charge of the club after police had dismissed all patrons and employes. England was taken to municipal court to arrange for the bond.

Refund from "Bank"

After Judge Hazen had ordered the $500 fine England was released and given $120.81 which had been taken from the "bank" during the raid. He was then taken to the club headquarters by Capt. DeWees.

The raid was carried out quickly and in smooth order.

Only Chief Marks, Judge Hazen and City Solicitor Wilhelm knew of the planned raid before it was actually staged.

Patrolmen participating in the raid were virtually all members of the first and second tricks.

The Kentucky club is not a very auspicious layout. The club, itself, is no more than about 15 feet wide and 100 feet deep. The walls of the room were at one time covered with a yellow wall paper, which long since has seen its best day. In places the paper was torn from the walls.

On one side of the room a huge scoreboard is hung. All of the major horse-racing plants in the nation are listed race-by-race on the board.

The bank is located to the front of the building. Inside the office in which the bank is located is a telegraph ticker machine which carried up to the minute race results.

Boards Play Pass With Courthouse Cleanup Job

County and City Authorities Unable To Decide Question of Responsibility; Commissioners Waiting.

The question of who's to clean up the rest rooms in the Marion county courthouse, as recommended by the Marion County Academy of Medicine on May 21, is in the shuttling stage—between the city and county health departments and the county commissioners.

The clean-up was one of five points submitted by a delegation from the academy and auxiliary to the county commissioners the afternoon of May 21.

"Going into the second month since the recommendations were made, no one to date has taken the responsibility of doing anything about the suggestions.

Dr. H. K. Mouser, one of the academy representatives at the meeting, contacted yesterday said that the academy has made no further move.

Asked if the academy was "bidding its time," he replied, "Yes."

Says It's Up to City.

County Health Commissioner N. Sifritt last Friday declared the matter was entirely out of the jurisdiction of the county health department. He cited state health department code sections specifying the duties of municipal and county health districts and said that the county health department has no more jurisdiction over the courthouse restrooms than it has over the county-owned fairgrounds, except for a small portion of the land at the extreme north section, which is outside the city limits.

The county health commissioners declared that while the restrooms are in county-owned property they are in the city limits and therefor under jurisdiction of the city health department.

City Commissioner's View.

City Health Commissioner M. W. Weinbaum said yesterday that he thought it was a county health department job but that there was some question as to which department has jurisdiction and he felt it was a matter for the county commissioners to decide.

In the county commissioners' office yesterday afternoon Commissioner Urban F. Zachman and Clerk Walter E. Guthrie said the commissioners had received no orders to proceed with any cleanup.

"If there is a need for a cleanup and we get an order from the health department, we can go ahead then," the clerk said.

"Which health department?" he was asked.

Mr. Guthrie replied that he felt it was action that should come from the county health department and Mr. Zachman agreed.

They said that until such an order is received the commissioners can not go ahead with any sanitation program at the courthouse.

Other Proposals Hanging Fire.

So far, no action has been taken on the other four recommendations—remove the trees; remove the flagstones on the esplanade and landscape the uncovered ground; clean the exterior of the building; remove the south steps—but the question posed yesterday and Friday regarded the recommendation to render the courthouse toilets more hygenic, conveniently arranged and modernized.

The academy's recommendation on that one point, as of yesterday afternoon still is in the shuttling stage.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION IN OHIO INCREASES

Despite Priorities in Materials Highway Work Progresses.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 6—Despite priorities on critical road materials Ohio highway construction increased 45 per cent the first six moths of 1942 over the 1941 period, State Highway Director Hal G. Sours reported today.

The department let contracts totaling $12,204,555 during the Jan. 1-June 30 period, while contracts for the first six months of 1941 were $8,405,835.

Two factors which pushed 1942 construction ahead of last year, Sours said, were a quick switch from general road construction to building of military and access highways when the priorities rule was invoked and the postponement of last year's surface treatment program until after July 1.

Meanwhile, the public roads administration announced in Washington that restrictions on the use of bituminous materials had been extended to include Ohio and 20 other states.

The order had the effect of freezing, subject to administration certificate for release, all stock of such materials, including stores held by county and city road and street departments. The controls cover maintenance and highway and street construction, the agency emphasized.

Temporary exceptions were made for "going projects."

The extension was based, the announcement stated, on the need of bitumnous materials for war purposes.

Presidency Is Topic of Club's Program

A history of the office of president of the United States, with special emphasis on the administrations of the two presidents whose birthdays are in July, John Quincy Adams and Calvin Coolidge, featured the meeting of the Lions' club yesterday noon at Hotel Harding.

Plans were completed for the installation banquet to be held at the Marion Country club next Monday evening. Dr. J. W. Bull is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

MORE TRAINING FOR POLICE AID SERVICE

Second Legion Group Are Instructed by State Patrol.

A second group of American Legionnaires is now taking a 16-week training course under the direction of state patrolmen for the purpose of assisting the patrol in handling emergencies. The principal idea is to prepare the men for possible war emergency service, but they are subject to call as volunteers in case of any crisis in which patrol services would be needed. This training is part of a statewide program in which the patrol is using Legionnaires to build up its voluntary auxiliary force.

The first group to take this training completed its course the last of May. The enrollment of the present class is ten. Although the auxiliary police have no police powers and are not armed, they assist regular officers. Many have taken an additional 10-hour first aid course leading to Red Cross certificates.

For the ceremony Miss Crawford wore a [illegible] ensemble [illegible] her blouse, gloves and hat were [illegible] and her [illegible] and purse were navy blue. Pinned to her jacket [illegible] was a corsage fashioned of pink roses, [illegible] and forget-me-nots.

Following the ceremony there was a dinner for the bridal party at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Mrs. Goerlich is the daughter of Mrs. [illegible] Crawford of [illegible] [illegible] and a member of [illegible] Beauty shop. She is a member of Beta Gamma chapter, [illegible] Co. [illegible] sorority.

Mr. Goerlich is the son of Mrs. Kate Elliott of 941 Cherry street and prior to entering army service was circulation [illegible] of the circulation department of The Marion Star.

Announcement of the wedding was made at a family dinner Sunday at The Colonial House in Mansfield. The occasion also celebrated the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Goerlich's mother, and the first wedding anniversary of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Fahey of Marion.

Nutcups containing the announcement were hidden in the favors, which were tiny wedding baskets filled with mints. The wedding was disclosed by John Elliott, nephew of the bride.

Covers were placed for Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Kate Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Fahey, Mrs. Goerlich, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Longsdorf, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott and children, Valeria Ann, and John, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Crawford of Toledo.

Mrs. C. M. Peterson of the Harcourt road entertained the Carpe Diem club Wednesday afternoon. A patriotic program was given. Mrs. Charles Hammon gave a paper, "Women Workers in Defense" [illegible] and Mrs. Peter [illegible] a [illegible] poem [illegible] read [illegible] "Birthday of the Flag," [illegible] by Mrs. A. [illegible]. Mrs. E. A. Williams conducted a [illegible] contest which was won by [illegible] Honored guests included Mrs. Ernest Van Meter, [illegible] and Henry [illegible]. The house was assisted by Mrs. Van Meter and Mrs. O. C. Young [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

A party was given Friday for [illegible] Swearingen Friday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Swearingen of [illegible] Lincoln street, in observance of her eighth birthday anniversary. Contests were won by Sandra Kagen, Dorothy Rosebrough and Juanita Dickerson. Other guests were Marine Beacham, Joyce Phelps, Betty Payne, Rosemary Littell, Barbara Dickerson and Billy Swearingen. Mrs. Swearingen served refreshments.

Members of Victoria Christiansen guild of Trinity Baptist church and their children held a picnic last night at the home of Mrs. Milan Gorby of the Richland pike. On Aug. 3 the guild's annual birthday party will be given at the home of Mrs. Walter Haldeman of North Greenwood street.

Six members, Mrs. Haldeman, Mrs. Harry Woodall, Mrs. Gorby, Mrs. George Barnhart, Mrs. Raymond Foust and Mrs. Frank Koenemann, will attend guild day next Monday at the Ohio Baptist assembly in Granville.

Soldier Marries Girl from Waldo in Church Ceremony

MISS BERNICE ANN WALDRON, daughter of Mrs. Maude Waldron of Waldo, became the bride of Private Eugene C. Kraus of [illegible] [illegible] Sunday [illegible] [illegible] church at Waldo. The [illegible] open church was [illegible] for the [illegible] read at [illegible] o'clock by [illegible], assisted by [illegible] of Delaware. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kraus of 394 Hane [illegible].

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Elwood Barrett of Mansfield, wore a gown of white satin, fashioned with a long train. Chantilly lace at the shoulders and waist extended the gown trimmed with a sweetheart neckline and long [illegible] sleeves [illegible] at the wrist. The gown was buttoned [illegible] the back and caught to the waist with a row of tiny buttons. Her veil was fingertip length and was held to her head with a band of seed pearls. For something old she wore a gold brooch in the form of a bow, belonging to her grandmother and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and white satin ribbons.

Miss Erma Kraus, twin sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Betty Ann Kraus, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Naomi Lyle of Mansfield. The maid of honor wore a gown of pink marquisette fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves trimmed with Chantilly lace. She wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the bride and carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses, gypsophila and blue delphinium showered with pink satin.

The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of copen blue made with sweetheart necklines, puffed sleeves with Chantilly lace trim. Their arm bouquets of tea roses, gypsophila and blue delphinium were showered with pearl ribbon carrying out the bride's wedding colors of peach and blue. They wore pearl necklaces and bracelets presented to them by the bride.

The ringbearer was Diane Gordon of Euclid, niece of the bridegroom. Her frock was of pink organdie fashioned on lines similar to the bridesmaids' gowns. She carried the rings on a pink satin pillow. Her gift from the bride was a gold locket. All the attendants wore wreaths of painted daisies and blue forget-me-nots.

Arlyn Peak of near Waldo served as best man for the bridegroom, and ushers were Privates William Langdon and Paul Trefz of Parks Air college.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a white leather-bound Bible and he gave his attendants billfolds.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue sheer alpaca gown with navy and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a navy costume of corded chiffon with white accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

For the ceremony the altar was lighted with tapers held in two seven-branch candelabra, and decorated with baskets of garden flowers and palms. Miss Elizabeth Currier of Delaware played the wedding music, and Private Robert Miley of Patterson field, sang. Miss Currier played "Oh, Promise Me," deKoven; "Cavalleria Rusticana," Moscagni, "Thine Alone," Herbert, "Evening Star," Wagner, and Private Miley sang "At Dawning," Cadman and "I Love You Truly," Bond. The traditional wedding marches were used.

For the reception attended by 40 guests at Ringer's Inn the table was centered with a wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and decorated with flowers. Assisting were Mrs. Grace Clunk of near Waldo and Miss Charlotte Trefz of Marion.

When Private and Mrs. Kraus left on a short wedding trip in northern Ohio the new Mrs. Kraus was wearing a two-piece suit of green and beige with brown and white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of Talisman roses.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from the Waldo High school. Mrs. Kraus graduated from business college in Mansfield and is employed in the accounts payable department of the Tappan Stove Co. The bridegroom enlisted in the Army air corps in February and prior to that time was engaged in farming near Waldo. He will be graduated from Parks Air college as a ground mechanic July 11 and will be transferred to Patterson field near Dayton to await his assignment to duty.

Rubber Collections Are Sufficient for a Year

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., July 7 — Scrap rubber collections are expected to be sufficient to keep the reclaiming industry at top speed for a year or more, the Beacon Journal said today.

Dr. H. S. Rogers, chief of the WPB rubber branch, has estimated the collection at 300,000 tons, and with the usual 20 per cent shrinkage this will leave 400,000 tons net for reclaiming, the Beacon Journal reports. The rubber reclaiming industry handled 275,000 tons last year and is expected to handle 350,000 tons this year.

Men in the industry said much of the rubber gathered in the nationwide drive was from sources usually untouched, and was therefore "pure velvet," the newspaper adds.

LAST RITES HELD FOR MRS. JORDAN

Funeral Conducted for Upper Sandusky Woman Today.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, July 7—Funeral services were held this afternoon in the Bringman & Co. funeral home, with Rev. Robert C. Bowman, pastor of First Presbyterian church, officiating, for Mrs. Lydia Ann Jordan, 88, wife of Dr. Robert F. Jordan. She died at her home on South Sandusky avenue Saturday evening.

Death was attributed to infirmities of age. Mrs. Jordan has been an invalid for the past fifteen years. Interment will be made in Old Mission cemetery.

Mrs. Lydia Ann Cramer Jordan was born in Adrian, Seneca county, to Frederick and Mary Cramer soon after they migrated to Ohio from Maryland by covered wagon. They moved to Upper Sandusky when the late Mrs. Jordan was two years old.

She was united in marriage July 22, 1884, to Dr. Robert F. Jordan, a pioneer dentist in Upper Sandusky, and now the eldest of the city's professional men.

Mrs. Jordan was a member of First Presbyterian church and was active in the work of the Woman's Relief corps, which recently voted her a life membership.

Union Co. Man Held After Kidnaping

MARYSVILLE, O., July 7—A 24-year-old Union county man, Ezra Miller of near Plain City, is held in the Union county jail on open charges, authorities said, following his confession this morning to kidnaping the three-week-old baby of his sister.

Authorities said he probably will be given a mental examination.

The baby was found on the doorstep of a Springfield, O., home early Sunday morning and was identified by the grandmother, Mrs. Malinda Miller, who said the baby was taken from the bedroom of the home some time between midnight Saturday and 7 a. m. Sunday.

Miller and his brother, John Miller, 34, were taken into custody Sunday after Prosecutor William L. Coleman and Deputy Sheriff Tom Hobart made a preliminary investigation.

HARDIN CO. FAIR BOARD DELAYS FINAL DECISION

Action Postponed Pending Further Discussion.

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., July 7—The Hardin county fair board today delayed for several days any decision on whether to hold or discontinue the fair now planned for September 30, October 1 and 2. At a special meeting, directors said they did not wish to hamper the war effort but expressed an opinion that the saving on rubber from discontinuing local fairs would be small in as much as 95 per cent of those attending drive less than 15 miles. They also objected to discontinuance of an educational agricultural exposition as long as race meetings, ball games and other sporting events are permitted to function. Bert Frederick, president of the Hardin County Agricultural Society, said many of the plans for 1942's exposition already had been completed.

Something Else To Be Produced

THE people are being assured that this country is winning the battle of production. The people believe it. They know what is going on in the mills and factories. Whatever doubts they may have had about the "arsenal of democracy" are being flattened by the stream of war material flowing from the production lines.

The people are assured that everything is satisfactory, except production of new ships. Germany's submarines are sinking cargo vessels faster than they are being replaced, which is serious. But even that is not too discouraging. The United States can drive submarines from its shores by using the same methods employed successfully by the British. All that's needed is time to overcome the initial lag in preparations to combat Germany on a front where, for reasons not known now, the United States was not prepared to defend itself.

But still the people cannot look at the war without misgivings, because it is becoming so painfully plain that production of weapons isn't going to be enough to win the war. Nor will it be enough to amass an enormous army. The important thing awaiting production can't be fabricated in a factory and rolled away from the end of an assembly line. It is the master strategy and winning tactics of war against Germany and Japan. Weapons and men won't be enough. They must be guided. The United Nations must discover how to seize the offensive from the enemy. They must quit making costly mistakes. They must evolve a winning campaign; they can't retreat forever.

Presumably it is to do these things that the current meetings in Washington between Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and spokesmen for other governments are being held.

It's Congress: Handle with Care

IN A MORE perfect union there would be a better way of handling congress in wartime than making it the target of the people's contempt for their own shortcomings. Sen. O'Mahoney of Wyoming reminded his countrymen the other day that "members of congress are your own people . . . don't let anybody undermine your faith in congress as an institution, for only the congress of the United States stands between the people and an all-powerful central government."

Source of the unflattering feeling about congress in wartime is, of course, its nature as a deliberative body. It cannot change its nature and become a dynamic executive agency. Nor can it cease to deliberate in an attempt to distract attention from itself without losing prestige. There is only one thing to do—behave as much like congress as possible, though realizing that congressional behavior is bound to be at least slightly and perhaps wholly absurd. But it is not the behavior itself that is absurd so much as the circumstances. That is the congressional dilemma in wartime, and it is not new. Congressmen floundered in it during the Civil war and during World war I.

As anyone can discover by following the Congressional Record, congressmen work hard—harder, probably, than they ever worked before. The Record also makes it perfectly plain that congressmen who are trusted with the responsibility of managing important legislation invariably show a sense of responsibility completely in keeping with the ideal of faith in public service. These are things that should be too obvious to need mentioning, but it is unfortunately true that many persons assuming the right to criticize congressmen for clownishness and irresponsibility never have recognized the evidence on the other side of the case.

There is no class of public officials that could not be held up to ridicule as easily and humorously as congressmen, granted the same circumstances. Fortunately, the circumstances cannot be duplicated. There is only one branch of the government performing the vital function of providing a constantly renewed contact with the citizenry. There is only one branch of the government so constantly in public view that as a result its foibles are magnified and its sound qualities minimized. There is only one branch of government ideally suited for the role of scapegoat when the popular demand is for action and more action and the government response lags.

Granted that congress is everything its most ruthless critics say it is, it's still congress—the principal point of distinction between the thing Americans are fighting to save and the thing that threatens them—authoritarianism.

News Behind the News

Jap Interest in Aleutian Bases Seen As Preparation for Attack on Russia.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 7—Japan is doing all the obvious things preparatory to an attack on Russia. Her naval press chief, Capt. Ogawa, has broadcast around the world an impudent warning of "a huge offensive" to come.

More and more troops and equipment are being filtered into Manchuria.

And now, no less important, comes evidence that the Japs are fortifying those Aleutian islands of Attu, Agattu and Kiska as submarine bases, which could mean only the same thing—that they intend to prey on our Pacific supply line to Russia and isolate the nearby port of Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula, the only useable harbor in Siberia north from Vladivostok.

Those three rocks of Attu, Agattu and Kiska could mean nothing to Japan unless she intended to make war on Russia. No air fields could be established on them, and even carrierborne planes there must constantly fight fog.

Consequently many American news readers have been inclined to over-estimate their importance, some indeed suspecting their occupation is a first step toward conquest of Alaska or invasion of our Pacific coast. Those suppositions seem fantastic.

But these three islands would have a real live military value as sub bases, in case Japan intends to break up Russian trade. No one except the Russians, of course, have any trade in that part of the world.

Henderson Squeezed

Price Fixer Leon Henderson was squeezed into making what he called the first break in the price ceilings, raising prices on a number of fruits and vegetables.

As a matter of fact it was not the first break. A few weeks before Henderson raised the price on canned citrus fruits.

Certain powerful administration senators, including Pepper of Florida and Connally of Texas steamed into Henderson's division with protests and got their way.

This time, however, the inner pressure was stronger and longer.

Many vegetable and fruit growers complained their prices did not reflect parity to growers, although the price control law requires this. They went to both Henderson and Agriculture Secretary Wickard.

Even the American Farm Bureau Federation demanded Wickard exert his veto power. When he hesitated, he was threatened with a campaign of opposition in congress.

So finally the Farm Bureau wrote a letter to Henderson demanding that the prices be raised. Henderson sought a way out. He tried to get congress to pass a subsidy bill, providing a bonus to the growers. Congress refused. His appropriation bill was coming up for consideration. He relented.

Saboteurs

Landing of those German Saboteurs from subs along our shores has not caused grave apprehensions here. Probably more were landed than have been caught, but Britain has been finding rubber boats along her shores constantly during the war, yet has held sabotage to a minimum.

The proof that the situation is well in hand is that little sabotage has been apparent; only major incident in this country since the war started—the Normandie.

Tax Bill

While the tax bill does not please anyone, it is not going to be changed much before it is enacted about Oct. 1.

Not many congressmen are really dismayed that the bill fell $2,600,000,000 short of raising Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's goal of $8,600,000,000, at least not sufficiently dismayed to enact a sales tax against treasury opposition. They told Morgenthau they would add the sales tax, and hence the revenue, if he would give the word, but he refused.

The bill is called a $6,000,000,000 measure, but that title may give people the wrong impression. It will add $6,000,000,000 in taxes to the $13,000,000,000 you are already paying, making $21,000,000,000 in all or about 30 per cent of the national income.

A Texan's Letter

Apparently some information available in Washington is not always complete. I have received the following correction on a recent column from a Texas editor:

"I have just made a slight change in one of your paragraphs

PAIN IN THE NECK

Manpower Problem Quiz

By JACK STINNETT.

WASHINGTON—Assuming that there are a few direct questions and answers which will reduce the manpower problem to its A-B-C's, the War Manpower commission has attempted to do same by giving the following replies:

Q. How many men will be required in the labor army—on and off the farms?

A. By the end of 1943 and early in 1944, we must have 20,000,000 workers in direct war production; 12,000,000 more on the farms.

Q. How many men will be taken by the armed forces?

A. There are slightly over 2,000,000 now under arms; there may be 4,500,000 by the end of the year; perhaps 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 by next year end; and if the war continues, at least 10,000,000.

Q. How many war workers will be women?

A. There now are close to a million and a half women doing war work. Probably 4,000,000 more will be needed in the next two years.

Q. Where is this war labor force coming from?

A. Conversion and suspension of peacetime industries will provide approximately 8,000,000; a half million more will come from the farms; around 400,000 from the professional ranks; a million and a half from the presently unemployed; and some 2,000,000 from the present reservoir of housewives, youths and over-age (retired) workers.

Q. Who is in charge of seeing that this is brought about in an orderly way?

A. The War Manpower commission, headed by Paul V. McNutt, which is working with the various government labor agencies in the Labor and Agriculture departments; Selective Service; the War Labor Board, and scores of training agencies and private industrial set-ups.

Q. Will there be a labor "draft"?

A. Probably not. In some specialized professional fields, such as the medical profession, it may be necessary if present trends continue. But at the moment, it is considered likely that the voluntary movement to place every man and woman in the job for which he or she is best fitted and most needed will be sufficient.

Q. What industries will need the most additional workers?

A. Civilian employment in navy yards, army arsenals and air depots will be increased at least five-fold, aircraft workers quadrupled; shipbuilding and army and navy ordnance tripled.

Q. How many "new" workers will be needed?

A. Approximately 11,000,000 in industry; 2,500,000 on the farms (during harvest periods.)

Q. How many "trades" are

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, July 7, 1932.

The plane carrying the American round-the-world fliers, James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, was missing between Berlin and Moscow.

William D. Upshaw, former congressman from Georgia, was nominated as the Prohibition party's candidate for the presidency in its national convention at Indianapolis.

A Columbus federal marshal, confronted with lack of funds to pay for transportation of two men to Mt. Gilead, where they were to serve 30-day jail sentences for prohibition law violations, told them to go to Mt. Gilead in the most convenient way they could find. Obeying orders, they hitchhiked the 50-mile distance and began serving their terms.

Miss Alice Margaret Macken and City Solicitor Carter M. Patton were united in marriage at the St. Mary Catholic parronage by Rev. Father William J. Spickerman.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, July 7, 1922.

American Commercial Attache Herring at Berlin reported to Secretary of Commerce Hoover that higher taxes were necessary in Germany in order to meet the Allied reparations payments.

President Harding was on his way to Washington after his visit to Marion as honor guest at the city's centennial celebration. In the capital he was to start immediately on resumption of his efforts to get miners and operators to end their deadlock and start producing coal. The strike threatened to plunge the country into a coal famine. The president had made known his determination to bring about resumption of mine operations. He has voiced the hope this would be accomplished through an amicable settlement between the miners and operators but made it clear that if this failed he would make good his threat of government seizure and operation. It was reported that he had been assured congressional approval of such action if it became necessary.

A group of Marion citizens, inspired by interest aroused by the centennial celebration, met and took preliminary steps toward organizing a Marion County Historical society.

The city school board received bids on coal supplies for the schools. The bids showed that the mine strike had raised the scale of prices $1 a ton.

Our Plan for Giving Veterans of This War Money When They Can Use It Gets to Congress.

By DAMON RUNYON

H R 7293, introduced in the house of representatives June 23, 1942, by Walter A Lynch, member of congress from the 22nd district of New York (the Bronx), reads as follows

A bill to continue the pay of all persons serving in the armed forces of the United States for one year after the termination of the present conflict.

1. Be it enacted by the senate and the house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled:
2. That the pay of all persons in the armed forces of the
3. United States on or after Dec. 8, 1941,
4. And to the date of the termination of the present
5. Conflict, unless previously honorably discharged,
6. Shall be continued for one year from the date of
7. Their honorable discharge.

The bill was referred to the committee on military affairs, with which it now reposes. When a bill goes to committee it is no sure thing it will ever be heard of again, unless its author is a man of great perseverance and earnestness of purpose and also of a little influence. I am told that Mr Lynch possesses all the former attributes, if not the latter, and I expect him to follow up his bill until he gets a decision.

YOU have to be careful about mentioning a specific figure in print because readers are inclined to remember that figure without reference to its connotations. I said not long ago that the largest amount paid the veterans of the first World war in adjusted compensation, or bonus, was $1,500. Some folks seem to think I meant that this is the sum that should be paid each and every veteran of this war if my suggestion for pay continuance were adopted.

As a matter of fact, many of the first World war vets received considerably less than $1,500, that being the most that any individual could get. It is my theory of the pay continuance that it should be based on the same general principles of the first World war bonus, including length of service, though I think there should be a minimum of not less than the equivalent of a year's service pay under the new scale.

I want to see each and every man who serves in this war placed in financial position after the war to rest and recuperate and have sufficient time to readjust himself to civilian life without having to worry about where he is going to get his next meal. I have not forgotten and I shall not forget the distress that prevailed among many of the men who served their country and their flag in the last war after hostilities ended and they found themselves broke and out of jobs.

I WANT to see each and every man in this war receive his money at a time when it will do him the most good and not have to go through the political travail of over 20 years that was endured by the veterans of 1917-18 before they got the bonds. I believe that continuing the pay of soldiers and sailors after their discharge from the service will eliminate the unrest and discontent that followed the other war.

I find much greater civilian approval than opposition to my idea, especially from older folks who remember when the boys came home from Europe. They remember all the things I have mentioned in connection with my support of the continuance of pay, including the civilian neglect of the former soldiers and sailors.

Those who did not go to war wanted to forget everything about the war and the sight of a uniform stirred them. It will be the same way again after this war despite the patriotic fervor of the moment, which, as in the other war, is apparently hottest in many of those who did not go the last time and are not going this time if they can help it.

University Farm Profitable

By International News Service

XENIA, O.—Owning and operating a farm has proved a decided asset to Wilberforce university, near Xenia, according to Bishop R. R. Wright, retiring acting president of the Negro school.

During the last 12-month period the university used most of the farm's provisions for its dining hall. In addition to the 105-acre farm, the university rented 140 acres and "still does not have enough land," Bishop Wright asserted.

A livestock inventory showed 90 pigs, two veal calves, 39 calves for the market. Livestock on hand not intended for sale included four pure-bred Holstein cows, 16 grade Jerseys, 11 grade heifers, three Belgian draft horses and 26 head of swine.

"Out of the proceeds of the farm," said Bishop Wright, "we have paid $500 on the farm mortgage."

Dog Days

The term "dog days," explains Ed Faust, who writes about dogs in Elk's Magazine, has absolutely no bearing on the health of dogs. It is one of the misunderstandings that has caused needless suffering among dogs whose agonies of thirst in hot weather frequently are mistaken for rabies.

The expression comes from the astronomical observations of the ancient Egyptians who worshipped the dog as a god. They discovered that the Nile, source of their security, usually overflowed coincidental with the rise of a certain star (Sirius) which they associated with the faithfulness of a dog. Consequently, the period from about July 3 to Aug. 11, when Sirius appears, has become known as "dog days."

"It's a particularly trying time for Fido," acknowledges Faust, "a time when he needs access to drinking water and needs it badly. Barring a little perspiration through his foot pads he perspires largely through his tongue. His schnozzle plays some part, too. Just as with you and me such evaporation has to be compensated, fluids drained from the body must be restored or bodily balance goes blooey and when that happens anything else can happen. The free-running dog, themasterless dog or dog denied access to water at this time is likely to become a social problem."

Five Years—And China Fights On

IN THE 1,826 days since fighting at the Marco Polo bridge near Peiping sparked long-smoldering Sino-Japanese trouble into full-scale war, Hirohito's invaders have learned a bloody, costly lesson. On the fifth anniversary of the "Chinese Incident" Japan has control of roughly one-fifth of an unbeaten China which has the constant-growing power of the United Nations behind her. The map shows the year-by-year progress of the conflict and how Japan has altered the strategic picture of the long-drawn struggle by swiftly surrounding China to the south since general Pacific war broke out Dec. 7 1941. Exact estimates of the manpower losses to each side in the 5-year war are not available, but some indication is that in the first year there were 1,000,000 Chinese and 300,000 Japanese casualties; in the second year the estimates were 2,000,000 Chinese losses, to 1,000,000 Japanese.

Ultimatum

THE last ... soon absorbed the ... from Delia's legs. ... there soaking, the ... contentment was ... interacted by a grow- ... six now, and until ... had been tramping ... search of that elu- ... was to match ... suit. In the end ... one at Lucille's. ... been dropped at ... with the promise ... would be back at seven ... During that time she ... ght much about the ... Perry Clarke; now ... fears again were ...

... she told herself, being ... it was nothing but ... that bothered her. ... as not very flatter- ... He had gone to see ... be sure; he had wanted ... things, had argued about ... at Hester's and had gone ... last night to get them. He ... the one who had ... at the door. It must have ... voice she heard while ... taking the envelope from ... bedroom.

She sat up, slapping hard at the water in anger and exasperation at herself for thinking about it. The splash rained against the wall and spread upon the floor and she stood up and reached for the towel as she stepped to the bath mat.

Why must she torture herself this way? Why couldn't she trust him when she knew nothing at all except the fact that he had been in Clarke's apartment? She knew, of course, the answer to this too. She was afraid. She had the wind up and couldn't do anything about it. Never in all her life could she remember happiness like that of the last six months and the thought of losing it was terrifying.

The knocking on the door cut sharply across her thoughts and she realized that, except for the towel in her hand, she was quite naked. She smiled at herself and reached for her robe, a spark of quick excitement touching off her hopes.

Ward? It must be. No one ever called on her, and although he usually telephoned before he came he probably had just stopped off on his way home.

The Little Man

She took off the rubber cap and shook out her hair, stepped into her mules and tightened the robe about her. Passing through the bedroom she heard the knocking again, but stopped at the vanity to slap on some powder and inspect herself.

The knocking was now insistent and she called: "Just a minute," she she scuffed across the living room. She pulled the door open a tentative crack and peered out.

The man stood very close to that small opening, not Ward, but some one she had never seen before: a short, solid looking man, with nondescript clothes and a sweatstained gray hat pushed back from his forehead.

"Hello," he said.

"How do you do," Delia said, thinking about the chain-stop Ward Allen had insisted she install and wishing she had fastened it.

"Talk to you a minute?"

"What is it you want?"

"I want to talk to you. About last night."

Something tightened up in Delia and her hand was cold on the doorknob.

"Who are you?" she asked.

"The name doesn't matter," the man said. "It's what I've got to say that counts."

"But I don't understand. If you could tell me what—"

"Not from out here talking through a crack in the door."

"Couldn't you come back some other time?"

"No."

"But I—I'm not dressed."

"I'll wait."

Delia hesitated, conscious of a rapidly growing sense of alarm. What could he mean by that reference to "last night"? She could feel his eyes boring into her and suddenly he no longer seemed small and nondescript. There was something menacing in his very presence and as much as she wanted to shut him out she dared not slam the door.

"Can't you at least tell me what it's about?" she asked hesitantely.

"About a guy named Clarke," he said. "Go ahead, get dressed. I'll wait."

Delia closed the door, the coldness creeping up her legs and sapping at her strength as she hurried back to the bedroom and began to dress, trying to think and then trying not to when she found the result so frightening.

She did not bother with the details of her appearance, nor stop to primp before the mirror. She donned underwear and slipped a green woolen dress over her head. As soon as she had her stockings and shoes on she went back to the hall door and opened it.

"Thanks," the man said, and entered.

He took off his hat, stopped in the center of the room.

Delia put on what she though was a smile and tried to be polite, to keep her voice and manner composed.

"Won't you sit down?"

The man did so and she crossed to the sofa. He sat on the edge of the chair, leaning forward a little, studying her, holding his hat so that it dangled between his knees. His face was round and shiny and unworried, his hair was thin and straight. Only his eyes served to warn her that for all his outward complacency there was something about him that could be hard and shrewd and ruthless. Small, and partly hidden by their fleshy setting, those eyes were steady and fathomless, revealing nothing.

"Now," Delia said. "What was it?"

"You went to see Clarke last night. You went to his apartment."

Delia drew a breath. "Did I?"

"A little before eleven. You weren't the only one, understand, but you were the first."

She waited, trying to keep her smile fighting hard to meet the announcement calmly, knowing all the time that if this man knew she had been to see Clarke, he must know that Ward had also called.

"And Clarke had some papers," the man went on. "Somebody took them. The police didn't find them—"

"You're from the police?"

"No."

"Then I don't understand—"

"You will. Clarke had some papers. Somebody lifted them. Either you or somebody else."

Delia had control of herself now. "But if you're not from the police," she said, "how do you happen to know so much about it?"

"You were there, weren't you?"

Delia surveyed him coldly and said nothing. The man bunched his lips and stood up.

"Okay," he said flatly. "I'll put it this way. You've got until tomorrow noon."

"I'm afraid I don't follow you."

"Until tomorrow noon I'll telephone you here. Either you've got those papers or you know who has. Get them. I'll tell you what to do with them when I call."

"But suppose—"

"I'm not supposing anything. If you don't deliver the police get tipped off. I think they'd like to know where you were at eleven o'clock last night. I think they'd like to know who else was there."

He put on his hat and went to the door opening it before Delia could reach him. In the hall he turned.

"You've got until noon. Play ball with me or I'll turn you in."

FORMER MARIONITE HEADS POLICE GROUP

Harry Grossglaus President of National Academy.

Stark county Detective Harry Grossglaus, a former Marion man and son of Mrs. Lela Grossglaus of 477 Windsor street and a sister of Mrs. Howard Mitchell of the same address, has been elected president of the National Police Academy, according to word received here recently. For getting the highest score in firearms contests, Grossglaus will receive a medal from J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Grossglaus is Ohio's 1942 pistol champion. He fired the first perfect 100 score ever registered by a police academy man in the practical police course at Quantico, Va. He broke 498 of a possible 500 targets during the training period to set a new shooting record for the police training school.

Before entering the shooting contests he won class championships in knife fighting and jujitsu.

He left Marion eight years ago to enter detective work in Canton, where he now makes his home. He is a graduate of Marion High school.

Divorce Action

Petition dismissed—Mary Rech against Fredolin Rech, at costs of plaintiff; Mrs. Rech represented by Walter D. Moore. In connection with the divorce action, a participating action against Mr. Rech and others was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

Suit Filed

Mrs. Eloise Beckley has filed suit in common pleas court against the Industrial Commission of Ohio for judgment in the death of her husband, Donald Beckley, on Sept. 21, 1937. The plaintiff alleges that on Sept. 1, 1937, while at work at the Commercial Steel Castings Co., her husband suffered an injury which resulted in his death. According to the petition, on April 1, 1938 the commission disallowed a claim because no proof was offered that death resulted from the injury suffered in the course of employment, and that at a rehearing on May 25, 1942 the claim was disallowed a second time because proof on file did not show the injury to be the cause of death. Mrs. Beckley is represented by O. G. Terry of Columbus.

This is an Apple

This is a Peach

Suppose, in a certain section of the country, there is a surplus crop of apples and a shortage of peaches.

These are Newspaper Advertisements

In them, merchants feature apples and soft-pedal peaches.

What happens?

Farmers benefit—their surplus apple crops are sold. Consumers benefit—because they learn that apples are plentiful and economical—peaches are scarce and costly.

That's only one way in which newspaper advertising benefits everyone and renders a great public service.

During a war the newspaper is more important than ever as a guide to the public in finding the things that are plentiful and economical.

GABE CARTNAL, veteran Hanover, Ohio, reinsman, copped top driving honors in last night's fourth Little Grand Circuit harness racing session at the county fairground oval. About 1,500 witnessed the nine-dash card.

Cartnal, head driver for the L. E. Greer stables of Newark, guided Volarion to three consecutive heat victories in the 2:13 trot event. Volarion is holder of a world's three-year-old trotting mark for a half-mile racing course.

The Newark-owned horse, a big bay gelding, was clocked at 2:12¼, 2:10¼ and 2:12¾. All three marks were far below his best time of 2:06.

In addition Cartnal booted Bohemian King to a second and third in the $500 feature stake race for 2:24 trotters. Bohemian King, a black gelding, by Scotland, in his first two starts here has failed to display the same form which marked him as one of the leading prospects in pre-meet guess work.

Versatile Ernie Smith, Washington C. H. trainer and driver, finished second in five heats and third in a sixth to grab runner-up driving laurels. Smith finished twice with Gayland in second place in the 2:22 pacing event and twice with Conchita in the 2:13 trotting event. He also was behind Proprietor in the second heat of the third race when the London-owned gelding finished second best.

Jessie Lord refunded $61.40 to win in the sixth race for top payoff last night. The daily double paid $40.80 and no winning combinations were sold in the quinella sixth race.

Top events on tonight's card is the 2:18 trotting stake with a $500 purse. Twelve of the leading trotters in this time bracket were named several weeks ago for the event. Coney Azoff, a roan gelding by Jayzoff, is the leading contender for the stake. The horse driven by Art Blackwell holds a mark of 2:05

Following is a complete list of entries in tonight's nine-dash program:

SPORTS THE MARION STAR

TO FACE AMERICAN LEAGUE SWATTERS

Bob Feller, former Cleveland Indians' pitcher and rated the best twirler alive today, is set to face the American league all-stars when the U. S. service team opposes the all-star champs in the Cleveland Stadium tonight. The prospect of seeing Feller, now a member of the United States navy, pitch again—this time against the best professional baseball has to offer, plus a huge military show as a sideline has aroused baseball interest to a fever pitch in northern Ohio and a capacity or near-capacity crowd of 80,000 is predicted for the spectacle.

Coca-Cola Team Notches Eighth Straight Triumph

By virtue of a 25-0 verdict over the Senior Hi-Y last night at Presidents field, Coca-Cola continued to top the Commercial league softball standings with eight wins in a row. Weiss and Reichardt, sharing pitching assignments for the winners, scattered five hits over the seven-inning fray to hold the high school youths scoreless. Weiss led the winner's offense with four hits in five trips to the plate.

On the six-hit hurling of Manager Howard Gilbert, the Smith Clothing Co. team carved out a 5-2 triumph at Lincoln park over DeMolay. It was the winners' third win in eight starts. Gilbert was aided by home runs by McGinnis and Baker.

Hunkin - Conkey Construction Co. No. 1 moved into undisputed third place, defeating the War department team, 11-2, on the Marion Steam Shovel Co. diamond. D. Hamilton paced the winners with a single, double and home run in three official plate opportunities. Nick Cafagno also hit a circuit clout for the victors, while Mike Linta had a double and single in four trips to lead the losers.

Moose lodge disposed of the Waldo Independents, 18-7, at Garfield park in the only other league contest. Little of Moose rapped out four hits in five appearances to lead the winners. Thomas and G. Jake paced the victims with two hits each in three times at the plate.

AS AMERICANS WON, 3-1

Home runs by Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians, and Rudy York, Detroit first sacker, both in the first inning, were enough to give the American league all-stars a 3-1 victory over the National league all-stars in the tenth renewal of the inter-league game, played before a crowd of 33,694 in New York's Polo Grounds. By winning, the American all-star team won the right to play the service club in a second all-star game in Cleveland's Stadium tonight. Action above shows Rudy York crossing the plate on his homer. Joe Gordon of the Yanks congratulates him. Walker Cooper is the catcher.

MID-ATLANTIC MIDDLE TEAMS IN TIGHT RACE

Four Teams In Lively Competition; Senators Lead Easily.

Special to The Star

CANTON, O., July 7—Loose on the ends and tight in the middle—that's the Mid-Atlantic league baseball standings.

The front-running Charleston Senators and tail-end Zanesville Cubs have ample room, but the four teams sandwiched between them are locked in a race so tight it squeaks.

The Senators knocked off Erie last night, 3-0 and 7-1, to leave the second-place Sailors six games off the pace and only 3½ ahead of Canton and Springfield, who are tied for third on a percentage basis.

Dayton polished off Canton, 5 to 2, in 11 innings, the Ducks pushing over three runs in the second extra stanza after tying the count in the ninth. Springfield's twin bill at Zanesville was postponed. The Ducks are 11½ games behind the third placers, and the Cubs four games further back.

EXPECT 60,000 AT ARMY-NAVY BENEFIT TILT IN CLEVELAND

Game Tonight May Produce $75,000 for Service Societies' Funds.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., July 7—A great, patriotic throng of 60,000 to 70,000 spectators is expected to comfortably fill Cleveland's massive municipal lake front stadium tonight to witness the greatest stars in baseball battle and to swell the fund of the Army and Navy Emergency Relief Funds.

The competing teams will be Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors managed by Lieut. Gordon "Mickey" Cochrane, one-time pilot of the Detroit Tigers, and the ever-familiar stars of the American league, victorious last night over the National league all-stars, 3 to 1. The American leaguers will be led by the veteran Joseph Vincent McCarthy, manager of the world's champion New York Yankees.

Bagby To Start

Bobby Feller, Cleveland's own great 23-year old fireballer, or John Duncan Rigney, former ace of the Chicago White Sox, both right handers, will be on the firing line at the start for the service all-stars, with Cleveland's Jim Bagby, another right hander, the choice of Manager McCarthy.

Lieut. Cochrane, supremely confident, nevertheless had not decided upon his positive pitching choice or his starting line-up today. It was the general impression that he would give the nod to the idolized Feller for sentimental reasons and then throw Rigney into the fray when and if Feller got into trouble. If Feller starts, his catcher will be Vinnie Smith of the Pittsburgh Pirates. If Rigney goes, his receiver will be Frankie Pytlak, former Cleveland and Boston Red Sox star.

"We came here to win," Cochrane snapped. "We've got good pitching, a great defensive outfield and hitting power. We'll give 'em more than they are figuring on. They won't get many hits off us in that big ball park. If we can take 'em I'll be the happiest guy in the world."

The balance of Lieut. Cochrane's starting line-up probably will find Sam Chapman, Philadelphia Athletics, in right field; Don Padgett, property of St. Louis Cardinals in left, and Joe Grace of the St. Louis Browns in the center garden.

The infield probably will be Benny McCoy of the Athletics at second, Cecil Travis of Washington at short, Ernie Andres, Louisville Colonels at third, and either Johnny Sturm, Yankees, or Chester Hajduk of the Chicago White Sox at first. Andres, a former Indiana university star, is the only player among the all-stars without previous major league experience.

Rigney is in top condition, and is anxious for the assignment. He not only had the benefits of spring training with his old team, the White Sox, but also pitched for six weeks in the American league campaign before enlisting in the navy. Feller has pitched less than Rigney and against less formidable opposition.

Boudreau Starts Victory March with Circuit Clout; 33,694 See Game.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 7 — Better all-star games possibly will be played than last night's spectacle in which the American league once again slugged the National into defeat, 3-1, before a benefit crowd of 33,694.

One minute after big Ernie Lombardi of the National leaguers lifted a lazy fly to right field to end the contest, pitch darkness closed over the big arena as part of New York City's second wartime blackout. For 22 minutes the crowd sat tense and almost silent.

Where the Nationals had planned to invade Cleveland for an appearance against the service all-stars tonight, they found themselves instead returning chastened to their respective clubs while the triumphant Americans headed for the Ohio city.

Boudreau Homers

Last night's game was over to all intents and purposes when Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's handsome young manager, laced the second ball pitched by Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals into the deep left field stand. The Nationals from that instant must have felt it was hopeless. The crowd did, anyway.

Here was Boudreau blasting for the circuit off Cooper, and the Nationals must have recalled with a sudden chill that Ted Williams had closed last year's all-star battle at Detroit with a homer.

Boudreu's blow must have unsettled Cooper. For the next American leaguer, Tommy Henrich, bumped a double into right-center, and after the next two men went down big Rudy York of the Detroit Tigers lofted a homer into the upper deck in right field.

Americans' Pitching Great

From there on, with the Americans boasting a three-run lead and their pitchers—Spud Chandler of the Yankees and big Al Benton of Detroit — setting the Nationals down inning after inning, there never was much doubt that the junior leaguers had won their seventh victory in 10 all-star duels.

Mickey Owen, the Brooklyn catcher whose failure to stop a third strike made him the goat of the 1941 world series, saved his side from a shutout with a pinch home run off Benton in the eighth. He was the only National leaguer to get past second base.

Durocher's big mistake, as it turned out, was in starting Cooper instead of either Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds or Claude Passeau of the Chicago Cubs. Both the latter proved to be in dazzling form. Vandy allowed only two singles in the three innings he worked. For two frames Passeau yielded only one single, that also by DiMaggio. Bucky Walters of the Reds set the winners down in order in the ninth.

Joe Gordon, the Yankees' great second baseman, found the National league hurling particularly puzzling, striking out his first three times at bat and rolling out weakly on the fourth.

MAJORS UNDECIDED ABOUT SERIES PLANS

Leave War Benefit Question in Hands of Three.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 7—At least part of the proceeds from the World Series this fall will go to war relief, but it will be up to baseball's advisory council to decide whether the October classic is to be stretched into extra games, taken "on tour," or both, for the benefit of the armed forces.

Major league club owners and officials, who met in three lengthy sessions before yesterday's All-Star game and agreed that some of the money from the series would be earmarked for war relief agencies, failed, however, to name either the amount or the organizations which will benefit.

Nor did they arrive at any conclusion regarding possible "touring" World Series or the addition of extra games beyond the regular best-four-out-of-seven.

They merely placed the whole thing in the hands of the advisory council, composed of Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, President Ford Frick of the National League and President Will Harridge of the American League.

Commissioner Landis cast the vote that denied owner Clark Griffith of the Washington senators his request to schedule all of Washington's remaining games this season at night, except on Sundays and holidays.

Cherry St. Youth Is Marion County Horseshoe Champ

Paul E. Swartz, 21, of 624 Cherry street is new Marion county and district horse shoe pitching champion as a result of contests staged Saturday and Sunday at Buckeye Lake.

Swartz annexed the county title with 72 ringers out of 100 pitched shoes. In winning the district title he pitched 331 ringers out of 500 pitches.

As a result of his double win he was matched in the North Central Ohio finals. In his first match he outpointed A. B. McCoy of Coshocton in a 50-point contest. Marvin Ferguson of Columbus downed Swartz in a finals match to win the North Central Ohio title. Swartz was runner-up.

Pitching 42 ringers out of 50 pitches, Swartz won a pair of Ohio horseshoes in a special contest staged in connection with the district matches.

Swartz along with Ferguson and McCoy will represent the district in state matches later.

Montgomery To Tackle Angott Again Tonight

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, July 7 — Bob Montgomery, until a few months ago regarded as the uncrowned lightweight champ, stands at the crossroads of his fight career tonight.

The Philadelphia Negro tangles with Sammy Angott, lightweight champion from Washington, Pa., and Louisville, Ky., in a non-title 12-rounder at Shibe Park that is expected to draw close to 20,000 spectators and gross $40,000.

Twice beaten by Angott in two previous meetings Montgomery must win tonight to regain the prestige he lost when Angott decisioned him last March 6 in New York.

THREE CLUBS TIED AT .500 PER CENT IN AMERICAN ASS'N.

Columbus Red Birds Drop Game To Toledo by Score of 4 to 1.

By The Associated Press

The American association maintained its jig-saw pace last night as three clubs tied themselves up with .500 per cent rankings.

Minneapolis clipped Milwaukee, 9-8. After dropping four in a row to Indianapolis, Louisville recuperated with an 8-5 victory. The Tribe now is hitting along with a 42-42 rating while the Colonels are plugging at 41-41.

Columbus failed to take advantage of the Brewers' defeat to clamp a tighter hold on second place and fell before the Toledo Mud Hens, 4-1.

League-leading Kansas City and tail-ender St. Paul were idle.

The Colonels' hard fought win may prove costly. Their ace pitcher, Lou Lucier, was struck just above his left wrist by a ball from Joe Moore's bat in the ninth inning and was taken to a hospital for X-rays.

A four-hit job by Fritz Ostermueller helped Toledo overcome Columbus. His mates shoved over two runs in the second and another pair in the eighth off young Ted Wilks, who was striving for his third straight shutout. Chuck Stevens, Toledo first baseman, wrecked Wilks' string of 17 consecutive scoreless innings with a home run over the right field fence with Ray Parrett on base. In all, the Hens pelted Wilks for eight of their nine hits.

JOHNNY MIZE RISES IN BATTING LIST

Jumps from 10th to 6th Place in National Loop.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 7—Although he still is well down in the pack, the hottest member of the major league's hitting brigade during the past week was Johnny Mize, New York Giant first baseman.

Mize vaulted from tenth to sixth place in the National League race, boosted his average above .300 to .301 for the first time and retained his home run clouting honors.

Ted Williams, the reluctant dragon of the Boston Red Sox, climbed to the top of the American League band wagon for the first time this season, displacing both Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees and Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox, who have been alternating at the top rung much of the year.

Williams now sports a .348 batting average with Gordon second at .347 and Doerr third with .346.

There's nothing to compare to that tight race in the National where Pete Reiser, Brooklyn sophomore, is away out in front with .361.

HAWKS ENTERTAIN GALION WEDNESDAY

"Ladies Night" To Be Observed at Lincoln Park.

Ladies night will be observed tomorrow night at Lincoln park when Marion's baseball Hawks entertain the Galion Jaycees in an Ohio State semi-pro league contest at 7 p. m.

Manager Ted Anderson is expected to start Joe Roseberry against the troublesome Jaycees. The two clubs are even in two series, each winning two games and losing two. The locals notched their two wins Saturday in a Fourth of July double-header at Galion.

Four members of the local team will go to Fremont Friday night along with Manager Anderson to participate in the Ohio State league all-star game. The league-leading Fremon Green Sox will oppose the all-stars.

AGENTS SEEK BUND MEMBERS

Federal Officials Rounding Up Leaders Indicted by Grand Jury.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 7—Armed with warrants obtained by United States Attorney Mathias Correa, federal agents today were rounding up every national officer, sectional official and principal leaders of the German-American bund who were indicted by a New York federal grand jury.

The defendants named are being sought in eight states. All were accused of conspiracy to counsel bund members to resist service in the armed forces of the United States and of conspiracy to conceal bund affiliations in filling out alien registration forms.

In all 29 defendants were named, 26 of whom also were accused of conspiracy to evade the selective service act.

Filed Complaints

Correa also filed denaturalization complaints in the U. S. district court against 27 persons, some of whom were named in the indictment while others were described as additional bundists and axis sympathizers. Among those named were Fritz Kuhn, former national leader of the bund, who is now in prison on a larceny conviction.

"We intend to put the bund out of business," said Correa.

Fritz Kuhn, former national bund leader now in prison, and Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, a subsequent bund chieftain arrested recently in Mexico and returned to this country yesterday, were involved in the federal proceedings.

Denaturalization proceedings were instituted against Kuhn, now serving a term for larceny, and Kunze was charged with evasion of the selective service act, a charge upon which he was held in $50,000 bail yesterday. Kunze is wanted also in Hartford, Conn., to answer a federal charge of violation of the 1917 espionage act.

Nominally defunct since the outbreak of war between the United States and Germany, the bund was charged in the indictments with continuing certain acts which Correa said confirmed a belief that the bund was operating with underground tactics.

Correa said that numerous singing societies had taken over bund activities and continued to foster Nazi beliefs. He said these would be the subject of further investigation.

Correa said that under the cloak of the name "a militant organization of free Americans," the bund organizations sought to further the political and propaganda aims of the German reich.

The indictments strike at leaders in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana, Washington state and California.

For the last several months investigations into the bund have been in progress and at least two witnesses committed suicide rather than testify before the grand jury.

GOES TO WORKHOUSE

Bill Dugan, recently fined $10 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the Columbus workhouse by Municipal Judge Dexter Hazen, on a charge of shoplifting was taken to the workhouse this morning by Sheriff J. W. Harruff and Deputy M. E. Baldwin. At the time of his arrest he gave his address as East Fairground street, police said.

Bogert High in Marion Shoot

Sets Pace for Trapshooters of Central Ohio in Holiday Contest at Gun Club.

C. A. Bogert of Sandusky fired a perfect 100 in a 16-yard Fourth of July registered shoot Saturday at the Marion gun club grounds southeast of Marion on the Edison pike. Bogert scored 48 hits out of 50 targets from 23 yards in the handicap event to lead this contest also.

More than 75 shooters from throughout Ohio participated.

Following are scores of all participants. Following each man's name is at least one figure and in some cases two figures. The first figure represents the participant's score in the 16-yard event while the second set of figures is his score in the handicap event. For example, C. A. Bogert of Sandusky fired a perfect 100 in the 16-yard event and broke 48 out of 50 possible targets from a 23-foot mark:

DEMOCRATIC CLUB HEARS CANDIDATES

State, District and County Office Seekers Speak.

Walter F. Heer of Columbus, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the August primary, was among visitors at the "candidates' night" meeting of the Marion County Democratic club Monday night at party headquarters.

Virtually all of the local candidates, including Dr. C. J. Altmaier and Brooks Fletcher who are seeking the congressional nomination, were present. The candidates were introduced and spoke briefly.

A social hour was in charge of Mrs. William Klehm, Mrs. Paul Lesser and Mrs. Pauline Hinkle.

Announcement was made of a picnic Monday night at 6 at McKinley park, to be given by the women's division of the club.

GROUP HOSPITAL PLAN APPROVED BY POLLAK

Plans Made for Enrolling Steel Co. Employes.

A committee of 12 representing the Pollak Steel Co. mill in Marion last night approved the program of the Central Hospital Service, with headquarters in Columbus, and arrangements were made to start enrolling employes Thursday and Friday. W. A. Zerbe, field representative of the service, reported today.

The service is a non-profit organization providing group hospital bill insurance for workers on a payroll deduction plan. The Pollak group is the first to approve it in Marion since city council recently passed a resolution approving operation of the plan at Marion City hospital.

Mr. Zerbe said the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co., builders of the Scioto Ordnance Plant, has approved the plan and enrollment of employes will be started Monday in the commissary building at the site.

DATES SET FOR FUND CAMPAIGN

Community's Agencies, USO and Other War Groups To Share in Drive.

Dates were set for a joint campaign to finance (1) agencies of the Marion Community Foundation and (2) the Marion city and county contribution to the USO and other war-time organizations making nationwide appeals for help during the war at a meeting Monday night.

The dates chosen are Oct. 22 to Oct. 31.

They were fixed by the executive committee of the Marion Community Foundation, Inc., at a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. in charge of J. E. Oliphant, its president. Meeting with the members was Robert E. White, who will serve as the campaign chairman.

Mr. White will name his chairmen and committees at an early date and committees will meet soon to discuss plans for the campaign. It is the plan of the chairmen to have everything in readiness for the preliminary campaign work by Oct. 5.

In addition to the drive for funds for the USO which is to be combined with the Community Foundation drive this year, the city and county are receiving numerous other appeals for aid from other worthwhile agencies, and because of this the campaign has been designated as a United War Fund drive. Marion county's quota for the support of the USO is $13,000. Other appeals have been received from the Chinese Relief, Russian Relief, and other agencies all of which have been approved by the National Council of Community Chests and are to be considered in the various appropriations.

NEW SHOP CLASSES FOR WOMEN OPENED

Two Start at High School with 32 Enrolled.

Two new classes in machine shop practice, with a total enrollment of 32, were organized at Harding High school vocational shop yesterday. The classes, composed of women, will run from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 11 p. m. five days a week. The group working in the afternoon will continue the course for 10 weeks until school opens and the other group will work a total of 13 weeks. There are at present four classes, each working six hours a day, L. H. Rieker, co-ordinator, stated.

The afternoon class is being taught by Floyd Saine and the evening group by Frank Stanley. Mr. Rieker is in charge of all work done at the shop.

Newspaper Plant Blast Injures 7

BALTIMORE, July 7—A gas explosion in the Sun composing room rocked the block-long newspaper building this morning, blowing out windows overlooking Baltimore street and injuring seven employes.

The injured, six linotype operators and a machinist, were sent to University hospital.

The force of the blast stripped concrete from a steel-and-concrete pillar and debris struck the Baltimore and Ohio building across the street.

Repairs had just been completed to a gas line feeding a bank of linotypes from which gas had been escaping.

The injured were all struck by flying chunks of concrete.

Marion Man Is Fined in Drunk Driving Case

Clifford Schultz of 778 North Main street was fined $100 and costs and his driving rights were suspended for six months when he appeared before Municipal Judge Dexter Hazen Monday afternoon on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was arrested Saturday night on Route 23 north of Marion by the state highway patrol.

TO MEET TONIGHT

A meeting of Townsend Club No. 1 will be held at 8 tonight in the Druids hall corner of Columbia and Pearl streets. Open house will be held and Rev. F. G. Strickland of Williamsport will be a guest speaker. There also will be music and other entertainment.

NEWS FROM OUR BOYS

TRANSFERRED

Private Raymond E. Alexander of 495 Pearl street has been transferred from Fort Hayes, Columbus, to Camp Perry, O.

GOES TO WEST COAST.

Lieut. Thomas A. Baldwin, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Baldwin of 196 East Washington avenue, left Saturday by plane from Columbus for Los Angeles, Calif. He will be stationed at Camp Roberts in California. At Indianapolis Lieut. Baldwin and other passengers relinquished their seats in the plane to ferry pilots. He continued the trip by train to St. Louis where he boarded another plane for the coast. Telegrams received by his parents Sunday and yesterday told of his trip and his safe arrival on the Pacific coast. Prior to going to California Lieut. Baldwin was at Fort Benning, Ga.

C. W. CAMP IN ARMY.

Clarence W. Camp of 130 West Mark street has been inducted into the army at Fort Hayes following his recent enlistment. He is a writer of forestry and wild life stories and is a member of the Marion County fish and game club and the Outdoor writers club. He was also vice president of the Marion county conservation committee. A brother, Earl W. Camp, is now in the ground service of the air corps. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Camp of 284 Oak street.

PROMOTED.

Corp. Harold R. Bosh, who is stationed at Patterson field, Dayton, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bosh of 739 East Mark street. Before enlisting in the U. S. Air corps a year ago he was employed with the Erie Railroad Co.

AT AIR DEPOT.

Word has been received here from Patterson field, Dayton, that Lawrence Cocherl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cocherl of near Marion, and John R. Andrews of 581 Cherry street have enlisted at Patterson field air depot for training in ground work with the army air forces.

MARKET RALLY EFFORT FAILS

Today's Stock Leaders Generally Reverting to Mild Irregularity.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 7—Efforts to extend Monday's rally met opposition in today's stock market and leaders generally reverted to mild irregularity.

Encouragement was derived from the dearth of real offerings. Scattered favorites managed to tack on fractions but minus marks were plentiful near the fourth hour.

Stocks up occasionally included Eastman Kodak, and Air Reduction. Among losers were U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Anaconda, Chrysler and Du Pont.

Financial optimists found an argument in the sale of a stock exchange membership for $23,000, an increase of $2,000 from a seat transfer on June 29.

Noted in boardrooms were the federal reserve figures disclosing commercial, industrial and agricultural loans by member banks in 101 cities continued the lengthy decline in the week ended July 1. For the latest period the lending total was off $36,000,000 at $6,469,000,000.

OHIO LIQUOR BOARD MAY CENSOR SIGNS

Proposal Made To Control Liquor Advertising.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 7 — The state board of liquor control will hold a public hearing soon on a proposed regulation vesting rigid censorship of all liquor advertising in the board, it was learned today.

The hearing date has not been set, although all permit holders have been asked to submit suggestions on regulation.

Highlights of the proposal is that no sign, illustration or advertisement shall be illuminated inside or outside the premises of a permit holder advertising beer or intoxicating liquor, when sale of such product is prohibited by law. It would not apply to advertising of 3.2 beer.

Locations of state liquor stores or names of permit holders selling particular brands could not be advertised in connection with certain brands.

Liquor, wine or high power beer could be advertised by radio only when they can be sold at retail, although present regulations permit such advertising after 10 p. m.

The proposed regulation would prohibit any mention of the palatability, quality or price, or any particular advantage that might be gained from drinking the advertised product.

BUYING LIFTS GRAIN PRICES IN MARKET

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 7—A let-up in hedging pressude, strength in the cotton market and a moderate amount of mill buying lifted grain prices today.

A decline in receipts at terminal and sub-terminal markets, trades said, was responsible for less hedging sales.

Dealings were light in all pits with many traders not committing themselves in view of the confusing legislative situation.

Wheat closed ¾-⅞ higher than Monday, July $1.16¾-⅝, September $1.19⅞-½; corn ⅝-1 cent up, July 86⅞-87, September 89¼-⅝; oats unchanged to ¾ higher; soybeans ¾ lower to ⅞ higher; and rye 1 to 1½ cent up.

Cong. McGregor of 7th District To Run Again

RENT CEILING

to appeal to the rent board. The difficulty in these cases is that the fair rent board hasn't even any authority to order unwilling persons to come to a hearing, and besides that it can't get any printed forms on which such cases are supposed to be recorded. Mayor Snare said the board is in such a helpless position that it hasn't met for a month. As a result, the cases referred to the board are temporarily held up, but with no prospects of getting them cleared until a federal administrator arrives.

Baffling Complications.

The problem is so many-sided that it's hard to describe. For the most part, complaints come from renters who say landlords want to boost their rent above the March 1 price ceiling fixed by the government. However, there's another side to the picture. Take the case of a man who has been having trouble with his landlord and decides to buy a house to end his rent troubles. He may find his troubles are just starting, because if the house he has bought is occupied by some renters, he immediately faces the problem of getting them out so he can move in. Even the OPA regulations say he can demand and get possession of his house under these circumstances but actually getting it may involve the eviction proceedings described above. The renter may be willing to move but unable to find a place to move into.

"It looks to me like there are about 200 to 300 more families in Marion than there are houses right now," Judge Hazen said. "Our problem in these eviction cases has been to help arrange moving dates because whenever a family moves, a whole chain of families is affected. Maybe our court bailiff isn't required to do things like that, but it seems better to have him spending some time working out these problems than make a business of setting families out in the street."

Many "On the Spot."

Officials estimate that "several hundred" Marion families are "on the spot" about rent cases, either as landlords, renters or buyers. There are probably 25 to 30 eviction cases filed or pending. The fair rent committee has about 75 written complaints and has received dozens of oral complaints.

When asked what he advises people that bring complaints to him, Mayor Snare answered, "The only thing I can tell them is to write out their complaints and send them to the Rent Division, Office of Price Administration, Union Commerce building, Cleveland, O. The thing is simply beyond our control—the federal government has gone through the motions of taking charge here, and I can't see what can be done until it actually does."

No two cases are alike. There are some that, on the surface, appear to be open violations of the rent ceiling order. In other cases, a superficial examination of the situation would indicate the landlords had a perfect right to seek eviction proceedings, for example to get rid of undesirable renters. However, in some of these cases officials have learned that families which have been regarded as desirable renters for long periods, seem suddenly to have become undesirable in the eyes of landlords, especially if they have received some higher offers from prospective renters. Incidentally, it's as much a violation for a renter to pay more as it is for a landlord to charge more, under the OPA regulations.

Some Examples.

One landlord who had been renting a house for $37.50 a month now wants $60. Another allegedly boosted the rent from $15 a month to $40. Some just want $5 or $10 a month more. Some landlords declare they have been forced by market conditions to rent their houses far below what they were worth for several years and they are storming under an order that would prevent them, for example, from renting a house that cost $5,000 for more than $15 or $20 a month. There are even some cases where a family of renters facing eviction includes a woman about to become a mother.

The list of complaints grows higher every day, and people making them travel from the fair rent board to the municipal court and possibly from there to a lawyer's office, and go back ... still undecided how to meet ... problems. ...

Regarding the sugar situation you state:

"'A Texas factory said it was going to shut down because it had no storage space left.'

"I made it read:

"'The huge refinery at Sugarland, Texas, with millions of pounds of unrefined sugar on hand, has been closed down two weeks and will not reopen until July 6, if then. Its great warehouses at Sugarland are filled with refined sugar, while millions of pounds have been shipped to warehouses at Houston and Galveston. Having no outlet for refined sugar the management stated it had no other alternative than to close its plant.'

"We printed pictures of the bulging warehouses.

"Meanwhile the berry crop of this vicinity, largest of record, ripened and died on the bushes for lack of sugar. The canning and preserving plant in the neighboring county of Orange did not open for business, because of lack of sugar. Applications for sugar for preserving, made weeks ago, are just getting into the hands of the growers—much too late.

"Three weeks ago I made application for 10 pounds of sugar for canning purposes. I got my permit today.

"And they want to ration gasoline in these parts, while we are wading around in the stuff shoe-mouth deep.

"People down here want to cooperate, heaven knows, but these queer orders have them scratching their heads."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Correcting Backache

ADULTS ARE likely to get a definite time for the beginning of their ill health at a period a year or two before it began, but the careful clinician in studying many of them will see early enough that their poor health is the result of a long process beginning in childhood. This is particularly true of that group of patients in whom no definite organic disease can be demonstrated, but who are obviously chronically ill on account of poor body mechanics.

The White House conference on Child Health thus defines body mechanics: "Body mechanics is the mechanical correlation of the various systems of the body with special reference to the skeletal, muscular and visceral systems and their neurological associations," which means the effects of a bad posture, movement and mechanics of the bones and muscles on the internal organs and nerves.

A mechanical engineer studies a machine first to see how it is made and then to see how near to 100 per cent it is aligned to its function. Thus, if the machine is not properly aligned, the greater strain will mean potential trouble. The human machine is no exception to this and bad alignment or faulty mechanics is a potential source of trouble and should be recognized by the physician as such.

Probably the commonest postural defect which results in strain comes from the way the backbone is held. This produces everything from headache in the back of the head, pain in the neck, pain in the chest, indigestion, low back pain, pain in the knees and feet, to a general feeling of debility.

These defects should be recognized in childhood and corrected, mostly by exercises which are taught in two positions, one in the recumbent and the other in the erect position.

Exercise 1: The patient lies flat on the back without a pillow under the head. The knees are flexed with the feet flat on the table. In this position deep inhalations are taken to expand the chest and then diaphragmatic breathing is practiced. The lower part of the vertebrae and hip bones are moved and raised so as to make the abdominal muscles tired. Next, in the same position, the head alone is raised until the eyes are looking directly at the knees instead of the ceiling. All of these are done fifteen or twenty times, morning and evening.

Exercise 2: The child stands against the wall with the heels about four inches from the wall and the buttocks, shoulders and back of the head touching the wall. In this position exercises are taken so that the entire back is flattened against the wall. Next, in the same position, one leg is lifted twenty times, then the other leg is lifted twenty times. Walk forward two or three paces on the toes several times and return, walking backward, to the wall. While doing this, attempt to maintain the original position of the backbone so that there is a hollow in the lower part of the spine and between the shoulders and the back of the head.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I STIRRED uneasily in my chair. The letter Katharine was reading to me did not sound at all like my brother-in-law, the Jack Bickett I had known so well in my childhood and young womanhood.

As Katharine paused and looked off into space, I put a prodding question.

"Did the telegraph company tell you anything about the person sending you the letter?" I asked.

"Yes," she answered. "I asked the boy the first thing, but he knew nothing. Then I queried the operator at the office. She said a big car drove up and a man in a chauffeur's uniform came in and said his employer wished the letter delivered to me at once."

"That doesn't shed any particular light upon the subject," I said. "Tell me the rest of the letter."

Katharine's Theory

"There isn't much more to it," she answered. "The letter came to an abrupt ending, as if the poor boy hadn't strength or courage to write anything more. But the last paragraph, written in characters that straggled all down the page, was a summons to me which I can't ignore. It said:

"'Please come to me as soon as you can. There are things you must know. Don't believe anybody who comes to you. Always, Jack.' Then, just below, and almost illegible, 'I am going to—'"

Her voice trailed off, and I then spoke gently:—

"Have you any theory as to what he was going to do?"

"Yes, I have—a fantastic one," she said, "but I have a hunch I'm right."

"I believe," she said after a brief pause, "that he had just strength enough to seal that letter and send it under another cover to the trusted friend of whom he speaks, who probably had promised him to get it to me. Then I think he must have collapsed, and later was found unconscious by the hotel authorities and, under the false identity he had assumed, was taken to some hospital, where he probably is now."

"He gave no clue to the address from which he wrote the letter?" I asked.

"No, he didn't," she said, "and that strengthens my theory that he was so near collapse when he finished the letter that he did not realize he had given me no address to which I could come.

"You see, don't you, Madge, what I must do?" she went on.

I would not have desired to combat her resolution in even the slightest degree were it not for the gnawing doubt I felt as to the authenticity of the letter.

But I could not help wondering what motive was animating Katharine in this decision, which she had not yet put into words.

Was it love for her husband, or simply her sense of duty and her high loyalty to her marriage vows?

The answer to that question, I knew, was locked in Katharine's heart. Not even to me, closer to her than any other woman, had she given any inkling of her real feeling toward Jack, since that long past time when she put Hal Meredith out of her life because of her loyalty to her absent and recreant husband.

It was the same loyalty she was exhibiting now, and I knew that even if her heart urged her in another direction, her iron will would see to it that no thought of Hal Meredith came between her and her answer to Jack's call for succor.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, July 8

THIS SHOULD be a most auspicious day for approaching elders, employers, superiors or others in influential positions for favors, preferment, promotion or anything else greatly desired. The subtler and more tacit approach would find more success than abrupt or tactless methods. Large corporations, political or diplomatic bodies as well as secret fraternities, are susceptible under the prevailing astral influence.

Those whose birthday it is are under excellent promise for promotion, favors, esteem and preferment from those in influential places and authority. Approach these with subtlety and penetration rather than direct and abrupt attack. Large organizations, business, political or diplomatic are similarly susceptible to tact and finesse. The mind should be under unusual stimulus for original and creative thought as well as decisive action.

A child born on this day should have much creative talent and originality and should attain ready favor and recognition from those in high places.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E.C.—Can rickets be cured in a period of eight or nine months? Is an unusually large stomach on a 17-month-old child a symptom of rickets? Should there be a special diet?

Answer: Rickets usually yields to treatment in a very few months. The permanent deformities such tuberant abdomen is one of the bone persist indefinitely. A protuberatn abdomen is one of the symptoms of rickets. A special diet for rickets is that which contains vitamin D, which is found in cod liver oil and fish liver oils.
